The STATE COLLEGIAN invites letters, but the publication of a communication does not necessarily imply the endorsement of the sentiments contained therein. As a guarantee of good faith, the writer's name must be signed, but will not be printed if so desired.

To the Editor: —

While wading through half a foot of water soaked snow on my way to chapel one morning recently, I thought some things that would not look well in print, nor did they increase in any way the reverential air I try to have when going to chapel. After the recent snow some of our most used walks were cleared so well that they resembled a narrow valley between high mountains. Two people could not possibly walk abreast on the walk leading to the front entrance of Main building for several days. This condition was allowed on a walk that hundreds of men go over many times a day. When the snow melts, however, and the slush comes, then it is that the conditions are abominable and should certainly be remedied. For several days during every thaw after a big snow storm the man without rubber overshoes inevitably gets wet feet. Of course if he becomes sick from the neglect it is his own fault.

The borough cleans the walks of property owners who refuse to do so and collects the expense of doing it. Let the college not be put to shame by the borough. Follow up the V shaped snow plow by a few men with shovels, especially over the most used walks, and the result in good tempers and dry feet will more than repay the expense.

Hopeful.
