THE BASEBALL SCHEDULE.

Penn State's baseball schedule for the season of 1908 as arranged so far by Manager Reiter is as follows:

April 11, Carnegie Tech. at State College.

April 15, Altoona Tri-State at Altoona.

April 16, Williamsport Tri-State at Williamsport.

April 17, U. of Va. at Charlottesville.

April 18, U. of Va. at Charlottesville.

April 20, Mercersburg Academy at Mercersburg.

April 21, Indians at Carlisle.

April 22, Dickinson at Carlisle.

April 25, Susquehanna at State College.

April 27, Syracuse Univ. at Syracuse.

April 28, Rochester at Rochester.

April 29, Cornell at Ithaca.

May 2, Bucknell at State College.

May 5, Grove City at State College.

May 8, Dickinson at State College.

May 15, W. U. P. at Pittsburg.

May 16, Carnegie Tech. at Pittsburg.

May 19, Villanova at State College.

May 23, Bucknell at Lewisburg.

May 28, Open (probably Delaware College or New York Univ.)

May 29, Villanova at Villanova.

May 30, Lafayette at Easton.

June 13, W. U. P. at State College.

June 17, Commencement game (probably.)

Much trouble has been experienced in arranging a suitable schedule owing to the difficulty of securing dates with some of the colleges. Penn was offered her choice of several days for a game but none was accepted. Yale was about the same and Princeton, it seems, was not in a mood to even consider signing for a game. The Indians will not fulfill their agreement to play the Commencement game here this year for various reasons and just who can be secured for this date is unsettled at present. Outside of these features the schedule is very good and gives State many new opportunities for acquiring baseball fame. It is also a very hard one, but with the material on hand, Coach McIlveen and Capt. Cree can be depended upon to develop a nine of which all State men will have reason to feel proud.

Reserves Lose Two Games.

The scrub basketball team in charge of Asst. Manager Bennetch played Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. on Feb. 27 and Lock Haven Normal on the following evening. Both contests were played under Y. M. C. A. rules with which our men were not familiar. The score at Bellefonte was 14-24 and that at Lock Haven was 12-20, both in our opponents, favor. The team consisted of Dillon, '08, capt., Smith, '10, Davis, '11, Harrington, '11, and Amidon, '11.

Another Band Stag.

On Saturday night the Cadet band will hold a stag dance in McAllister Hall to help defray the expense of some new instruments. A large attendance will greatly aid this organization. The admission is only twenty cents. Dancing will be from 8 to 11 and a good program will be rendered.

Junior Orators Chosen.

The following men have been chosen to compete in the Junior Oratorical contest during Commencement week: H. H. Acheson, A. A. Borland, W. E. Hoffman, K. H. Marsh, D. Panaini, and W. C. Weaver. The alternates are, in the order named: D. L. Markle, H. A. Hey, and Miss E. B. Bower.

This year the contest promises to be of unusual interest. Heretofore only one prize of $25 has been given, but beginning this year the first prize will be $50 and a second prize of $25 will be awarded. This has been made possible through the generosity of Mr. Barlow, trustee and loyal friend of the college. Dr. Sparks, who was one of the judges last year, has expressed great interest in this contest and will present to each contestant who does not win a prize some token of his esteem. Just what this will be has not yet been decided upon. In this way all who take part will receive some recognition of their work.

1910 La Vie.

At the recent meeting of the Sophomore class, A. W. Fisher was elected editor-in-chief of the 1910 La Vie. Nominations were made for business manager to be elected tonight. The candidates are L. F. Maxwell, Robert Buka, F. H. Berkebile, W. C. Summers, W. L. McCoy.

The Mechanical, Electrical, and Civil Engineering societies have agreed to meet hereafter on the same night and joint meetings will be held occasionally. The sessions of these societies will be held on Wednesday evenings.
