

Hey Studes !!

Do you need full dress furnishings for

"Just Out of College?"

A new line of Dress Shirts, White Ties, Studs and White Silk Kerchiefs just arrived.

Our new Strand Combination Sets Consisting of a Silk Tie and Handkerchief to Match are very unique.

THE TOGGERY SHOP

Just Out of College.

On Monday night an opportunity will be offered to all to see George Aoe's funniest comedy—a college play set to music. Modern conditions in social and business life form the theme of the play brought here for the benefit of the borough fire department. Mr. Aoe has well lived up to his reputation as humorist, and the "gag" atmosphere for which he is noted, is unequalled. The story concerns a young fellow just out of college, his girl, his business affairs, his friends, and his scrapes. The chief interest is in the Aoe method of working out the odd situations and the development of the sort of characters seen about us every day.

The College Orchestra has been engaged to assist the unusually large and capable company used in presenting the comedy, and all are assured that the evening will be spent in nothing but laughs. During the present week the company is at the Alvin theatre in Pittsburg, and will go from here to New York.

The Penn Relays.

More than 175 colleges and schools will compete at Pennsylvania's relay races on April 25 at Franklin Field. In the class or group races there are 45 college teams, 75 school teams and 31 grammar school quartets.

We have been placed in class 1, along with Columbia, Ohio State, Swarthmore, Lafayette, Wesleyan, Johns Hopkins, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This arrangement is not entirely satisfactory, and it is possible that State may be changed to the class in which we were entered last year.

The team which will represent State will be picked from the following men: Miller, Guyer, Mathers, Smith, Bubb, Berry, Hay and Bedale.

The Palace Restaurant

Sandwiches, Soups and Pies always on hand.

J. C. SHEFFLER, Proprietor.

Mrs. Sparks spent last week in town superintending the alterations in the President's house. Numerous entertainments were given in her honor.