pitched wonderfully good ball and held the red and white team in check, even toward the latter part of the game, when the damp, chilly wind had made his arm stiff and sore. But all our men are to be congratulated—everyone—for each one played the game of his life and upheld Old State's colors in a way that makes his Alma Mater proud to number him among its students. When the news of the victory reached State a large bonfire was built on the campus near the armory. It was an event that the students could well afford to celebrate, as few colleges can duplicate the record of winning three straight games from the athletic teams at Ithaca. Cornell's team never played
