COLLEGE NOTES.

The following is the organization of the sub-freshman class for the year: president, S. W. Thatcher; vice president, W. Montgomery; secretary, C. H. Peoples; treasurer, S. Buka

The Westmoreland county club met on Friday evening and elected the following officers: president, H. J. Bennett; vice president, J. L. Rylander; secretary and treasurer, W. R. Mollison.

W. A. Slater, '07, visited the College this week. He has been working for some time for the Gulf Refining company, at Port Arthur, Texas, and has had a week's vacation.

Prof. H. R. Higley, who was in the department of mathematics last year, is now assistant professor of mathematics in Stevens Institute, Hoboken, N. J., in charge of the freshman work.

At yesterday morning's mass meeting the two upper classes voted to change the cider scrap from the 31st of October to the 24th, because so many students will be home for election on the former date.

The senior civils met the senior mechanicals in a gridiron contest on Beaver Field Tuesday afternoon and won by the close score of 6-4. The features of the game were hair-raising end runs, nerve thrilling forward passes, and blood-curdling line plunges.

H. E. Bair, '12, underwent an operation for appendicitis on last Thursday at the German Hospital in Philadelphia, and is doing well.

U. N. Roy, of Chittazonz, Province of Bengal, India, entered the freshman class this week as a mining student.

J. B. Wharton, '08, who has been working at Hazleton, was here this week.

H. C. McIlveen, '07, is spending a few days at the College.

The Millers are Coming.

The committee which was appointed at the recent meeting of the Pennsylvania Millers' State Association to take up the testing of the quality of wheat, in conjunction with the agricultural department of the College, will be here for their first visit on Saturday. Mr. H. V. White, of Bloomsburg, who is a practical miller, has had much to do with the taking up of this work by the Association.

The visitors on Saturday will be the following: Landis Loran, of Lancaster, who is president of the Association; Col. Ascher Miner, of Wiikes-Barre; Ed. S. Wertz, of
