STUART * BLOCK

Dear Friend,

Since I have vanished from the walls of State, I certainly would like to have the opportunity of telling the student body what I think of them for not pitching in and doing something for the debaters in a more spirited way than they have in the past. I think it is a downright shame that the debating teams have had to force recognition from the mass of the student body simply through the results that have been accomplished. A true student body should be willing to recognize and reward a losing team just as strongly as a winning one. I don't by any means mean that a debater should be allowed any privileges that are given to athletes. By all means keep the two separate; but what I do mean is that he should receive some simple recognition from the student body, if only a watch fob or the privilege of using the seal in some special manner. Note the words student body; I don't mean the Debating Club, or Board of Trustees of The Pennsylvania State College, or Faculty of The Pennsylvania State College, or anyone else except the student body, the fellows themselves.

Dr. and Mrs. Myers Entertain.

The students taking the electrochemical engineering course were pleasantly entertained on Saturday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Myers. This department is growing rapidly, now having fifteen students. An electrochemical society has been organized, and the following officers elected: president, H. L. Amer; vice president, R. L. Patterson; secretary, A. E. Hibschan; treasurer, F. D. Taylor.

Shops and Laboratories to be Open on Thursday and Friday.

At a meeting held Tuesday, the council of administration decided that in order to show the Pennsylvania Day visitors the work that is being done in our shops and laboratories, these will be kept open on Thursday afternoon and about two hours Friday morning.

At the Wednesday morning mass meeting it was unanimously voted by the students to cooperate in the matter by regular attendance at the work scheduled for these two days. Full credit will be given for this time, and we feel sure that the visitors can be impressed with the wonderful growth of the college during the last two or three years.

All students, and especially the county clubs, are urged to meet their representatives who may be present, since much good can be accomplished in this way.
