

College Men

We ask you to give us a call and look over our line of samples for tailor made clothing. We are representing this season the largest tailoring house known—the Stern Company, of Rochester, New York. We guarantee a fit

Harry W. Sauers

Pressing The Clothier Cleaning

STUART * BLOCK

A Good Concert Expected

It is desired to call further attention to the concert by the New York Grand Concert Company, scheduled to appear here December 7.

Miss Hudson, soprano, has appeared very favorably with different prominent musical organizations, among which are the New York oratorio society, the Pittsburg Symphony orchestra, the Cleveland harmonic society and the New York Chautauqua.

She has a repertoire of some twenty four operas and oratorios, beside numerous smaller songs. All press notices are very complimentary, the New York papers being especially warm in her praise, after her appearance with the N. Y. oratorio society under the direction of Dr. Frank Dämrosch.

Miss Benedict, contralto, is equally pleasing with her voice. Her manager says "Miss Pearl Benedict seems to possess all the qualifications necessary for a great singer—a pure contralto voice of wide range, abundant temperament, and adequate musicianship. She is engaged to fill the important solo position in Calvary M. E. church, N. Y., one of the largest and best known churches in the United States, where the congregations average 2500 each Sunday".

Mr. James, tenor, comes with high recommendations as soloist with the Baltimore oratorio society, the New York church choral society, Ohio Festival, N. Y. Chautauqua and the Ocean Grove assembly. A Pittsburg paper says: "Cecil James, who sang the tenor parts, has an admirable stage presence, and his naturalness and easy way of singing at once won his hearers. His tones are warm, sympathetic, beautiful. His voice, while not robust, is one of the sweetest yet heard in the Mozart club".

Mr. Croxton, basso, was the vocal teacher at Chautauqua, New York, this past season, and figured in many artists' recitals there, always receiving warm applause from critical but appreciative audiences. He sang for three seasons with the Theodore Thomas orchestra on its festival tour, and he was also one of the soloists in the colossal production of the Beethoven Mass in D, by the N. Y. Oratorio society during the 1905-6 season.

The pianist, Mme Eleanore Clark-Stanley, has a well-earned reputation gained by years of study abroad under competent masters, the last of whom was Moritz Moszkowski. The press comment on her work is most favorable, and her share of the program will doubtless add greatly to the pleasure of the evening's entertainment.

Senior Prom.

The dance in the Armory last Friday night was very successful. The music furnished by the college orchestra compared very well with any dance music that has been heard here lately. The refreshments were good, the only criticism being that the guests were not as well waited on as they might have been. The decorations by Vollmer made the Armory look very pretty. 140 couples were present and a goodly number of chaperones and patronesses. The committee in charge of the dance was: H. H. Goodhart, R. M. Pennock, S. H. Smith, A. G. Frick, and C. G. Reiter.

AMONG OTHER COLLEGES.

The official registration at Syracuse University shows 3,204 students, the college of liberal arts leading with 1,422 students. The college of applied science has 390 students.

The old athletic field at Dickinson College has been sold to the Cumberland Valley railroad for $5300, and a new field is being constructed to take its place. Possession will not be given until June, when the new field will be completed.