Press Club Activities.

The campaign for wide publicity concerning the college and its interests was begun by the recently organized Press Club during the Christmas vacation. At the suggestion of the club, many of the county organizations sent delegations to interview the editors of the local papers in an effort to secure a more liberal attitude toward news from the college. This personal work proved very effective in most cases and, when properly followed up by the systematic work which the club proposes to inaugurate, should result in a wider and more favorable knowledge of the institution throughout the state.

At the meeting held shortly before college closed, plans for the work of the club were discussed and a temporary organization effected, with H. A. Hey, '09, chairman and D. R. Mason, '11, secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a plan for a permanent organization and a meeting will be held at an early date to consider the report of this committee.

Argumentation Prize.

The Funk and Wagnalls company of New York City offers as an English prize a "Funk and Wagnalls Standard Dictionary" worth $30, which will be sent prepaid to that member of the freshman class who excels in the Argumentation of the second semester, 1909. The prize will be adjudged as follows: The instructors in this subject shall select the twelve students who have attained the highest mark in (1) Attendance, (2) Recitations, (3) Briefs, and (4) Examinations.

From these twelve they shall choose the three highest and submit them to the President of the college, who will determine the most deserving as the winner of the prize.

The Senior Dance.

The committee having in charge the senior dance on Friday, January 29, has decided to make an innovation in the matter of patronesses for this occasion.

A receiving line is essential, not only to give dignity to the affair, but also for the proper reception of strangers who may be present. An indefinitely long list of patronesses has proven to be impracticable, and after much deliberation the committee has invited, to act as patronesses for the dance, only nine ladies: Mrs. Sparks, the wives of the Deans and Directors, and Miss Lovejoy, Dean of the Woman's department.

Dancing will begin promptly at 8.30. The invitations and programs will be given out at the Athletic Store. Further notice of this will be posted on the bulletin boards later.

The committee has endeavored to arrange for a pleasant and enjoyable evening and it is their hope that students and faculty will take an interest in it and so help to make the dance a success in every way.

Notice

An elective course in German Phonetics will be offered during the second semester of 1908-9, if there is sufficient demand for the same. This course is intended for those who expect to become teachers or who desire to acquire a correct pronunciation. Those interested will please see the undersigned or hand in their names before Jan. 25.
