

¶ Russell Sage said: "Your real estate will make your old age comfortable."

State Collegian.

Vol. V, No. 15.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., JANUARY 21, 1909.

Price Five Cents

Elective Courses in German.

The following elective courses in German will be offered to all students who have had German 3 or its equivalent. Recitations will be twice a week, hours to be arranged with students. All wishing to enter the classes should kindly notify the instructors in charge at once.

Scientific German—Prof. Fehr. Reading and translation.

Heine's Poems—Miss Simmons. A story of Heine's life and poetry with especial attention to his lyrics, their sources and their literary technique.

Introduction to the History of German Literature—Miss Simmons. English lectures, readings and translations of the representative works of German Literature from its beginnings to the classical period. Attention will be given to the growth of literary forms and the relation of literary to social, political and religious history.

German Phonetics—Mr. Stinard. Especially intended for those who expect to become teachers or who desire to acquire a correct pronunciation.

German Conversation—Mr. Goldsmith. Special attention will be given to the building up of a vocabulary and to the use of colloquial phraseology.

Lyrics of Goethe and Schiller—Mr. Goldsmith. Reading and study of selected poems. Lectures on the lives and works of the two poets.

President J. D. Moffat of W. and J. college will speak at next Sunday's chapel exercises.

An Electrical Dinner.

Sixty-nine members of the electrical department enjoyed a chicken and waffle dinner at the Nittany Inn last Friday evening. The guest of honor was Dr. A. S. McAllister, of New York, who during the week delivered eighteen lectures before the junior and senior electricals. President Sparks was also a guest. Dean Jackson had been called out of town and was unable to be present.

The following toasts were responded to, C. N. Fleming acting as toastmaster: "For the Glory of Old State," President Sparks; "Reminiscences," Dr. McAllister; "The 1909 Electricals," H. Rader; "The 1910 Electricals," S. J. McNary. Other talks were given by the instructors, the keynote of all being an appreciation of the work which Dr. McAllister had done during the week.

Alumni Banquet in Boston.

The New England Alumni Association of the Pennsylvania State College will give a banquet at which President Sparks will be the guest of honor, at Young's Hotel in Boston on Saturday evening, January 30. The hour is set for half-past six. All alumni, students and friends of the college are urged to attend. Those expecting to be present will kindly forward their names to J. C. Clendenin, 80 Ocean St., Lynn, Mass.

Frederick W. Vanderbilt has recently given $50,000 to the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University. Mr. Vanderbilt, who is a graduate of the class of '76, has already placed two dormitories on Sheffield Square.

Good Entertainment for Senior Week.

Arrangements have been practically completed for what promises to be a most interesting Senior Week. The program will begin with the Senior Dance at McAllister Hall on Friday evening. On Saturday afternoon an elaborate entertainment will be given under the personal direction of "Pop" Golden. It will consist of a variety of features, including boxing, wrestling, tumbling, and pyramidal building. The second act will be a comedy, "College Days," and some rare and novel stunts may be expected. The program will contain many musical numbers, since the glee club, the orchestra, and the mandolin club will all take part. No charge will be made, and tickets may be secured from the committee.

In the evening Bucknell will play our five in basketball, and the mandolin and glee clubs will give a concert which promises to be better even than their usual standard of work.

On Sunday evening Miss Atherion, assisted by outside talent, will give a sacred concert, and the week's program will end with the Terpsichorean dance on Monday evening.

The committee and all who are interested in Senior Week have worked hard to make it unusually successful this year, and it only remains for all to their part.

Prof. and Mrs. J. M. Willard gave enjoyable receptions on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of last week for the faculty to meet Mr. Frank N. D. Buchman, the new general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.