

The Wyoming Seminary Basketball Game.

Our five played its fifth game of the season last Friday night in the Armory and triumphed over the Wyoming Seminary team by a score of 38 to 16. The visitors appeared here with a faster aggregation than they had last year, and held the varsity even during the first half, which ended 10 to 10.

The absence of captain Funston from the game was keenly felt, and not until the second half had been well started did the white and blue players show the real State form and aggressiveness. In one of last week's practices the little leader had his knee-cap again displaced, a similar accident having happened previous to the eastern trip taken before Christmas. It is a question whether he will be able to get into the Bucknell struggle here on January thirtieth. Blythe, who took his place in the Wyoming Seminary game, played a cool, thinking game in his first appearance on our team and is bound to improve with more experience. Harrington, who took Funston's place at guard during the eastern trip, played consistent basketball on that journey.

In last Friday's game Hoerle made spectacular shots and "Chief" Waha played with his usual untiring energy. Reed kept his lead in the matter of shooting baskets by adding five more to his credit, and both Hermann and Barnett dribbled well. With careful practice our team should be in good form to win from Bucknell in about ten days.
