

probably the strongest list of games ever produced for a Penn State nine is manager Wilcox's offering for the approaching baseball season. A southern trip including three games is to start the season, which will end with a post-season trip to Vermont and Harvard. The usual eastern jaunt and an entirely new western journey as far as Michigan and Notre Dame, as well as the Cornell trip and some good home games, will fill up the remainder of the schedule.

Stevens Institute, Brown, the Mt. Washington Athletic Club, Notre Dame, Michigan, Vermont and Harvard will be met by our baseball team for the first time, so that this spring's card is a radical departure from the usual list. Every player who makes all the trips will use between five and six thousand miles of mileage, and thirteen players, the manager and physical director will compose Penn State's squad on each journey. Our team will have an excellent opportunity to show its worth in new fields and the games with Notre Dame, last year champions of the Middle West, and with Vermont, the baseball leaders of the Northeast during 1908 are of more than ordinary moment. The Alumni game which was so successful in bringing out an enthusiastic throng last June is included this year and Bucknell will also be a Commencement attraction.

Manager Wilcox made every effort to bring several of the large eastern universities to Beaver Field for a game but his efforts were fruitless. Cornell wanted to come down here during our Easter vacation and no suitable date could be arranged with the others.

Good Victory Over Pittsburg Collegians.

Our team made a record of five consecutive victories by winning from the Pittsburg Collegians here on Monday night. The visitors presented a line up of college and league stars, but their reputations availed nothing before State's unsurpassable teamwork. Anderson, Lehigh's basketball captain of last year, must be given full credit for his work, however. Seldom has a man shot goals on the Armory floor with more accuracy; eight field goals and five fouls made by Anderson gave a total of twenty-one points out of his team's twenty nine.

The Smoky City five held the white and blue even for a short time at first but when captain Waha's team got started, it passed the visitors by leaps and bounds, and twenty points were scored in the last five minutes of play. Hermann, Reed and Waha were the most conspicuous in this slaughter, while Ross shot three goals in the short time he played during the second half. Crawford and Herschel both got in several long, true shots. The Pittsburg Collegians surely appear to be a good attraction and although this was their first appearance here, they were warmly welcomed.

The final home game is played with Swarthmore on Friday night. Bucknell is played at Lewisburg on Saturday and three additional games away from home with West Point, Manhattan and Swarthmore next week will complete a season which has so far been eminently successful, even though difficulties have been encountered all along the way.

The Dunbars Concert.

The popular and versatile company known as the Dunbars, male quartet and bell ringers, lived up to their reputation on Saturday evening, when they entertained an enthusiastic audience for two hours. The bell-ringing proved to be as popular as ever, and they showed marked ability in reading, singing and on numerous musical instruments.

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday evening, a member of the company sang two pleasing solos, accompanied by Miss Ather-ton.

It is safe to say that no number of the course has been more popular, and the company may be sure of a welcome if they return to State College.

B. D. Kunkle '07 Married.

The many friends of B. D. Kunkle '07 will be pleased to know of his marriage to Miss Miller, which occurred on Wednesday of last week at Windber, Pa., the home of the bride. The latter is the sister of Gray Miller '08, who acted as best man. Miss Kunkle, a sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Among the guests present were A. W. Lomis '07, W. T. Dunn '08, and P. A. Rainey '07.

The Collegian extends hearty congratulations and best wishes.

No Mail Delivery.

As we go to press word comes from the post office department that owing to insufficient funds the installation of local mail delivery must be abandoned for the present.
