BASEBALL

Carnegie Tech Easily Bested. An Outline of the Two Trips.

Our baseball team opened the season with an excellent victory over the Midshipmen at Annapolis. In seven innings at Georgetown captain Hirshman's nine was defeated 8 to 5, but a plucky uphill fight on our part with a good chance of winning finally was stopped by the umpire who called the game when it was yet plenty light enough to play. The results of the games on the opening trip are here:

CHEMISTRY TRIP

Senior and Junior Chemists Finish a Successful Eastern Trip.

Beginning with Wednesday Mar. 31, the junior and senior chemists, 31 in number, in charge of Prof. Churchill and Prof. Rentschler made a tour of inspection through some of the important manufacturing establishments in and about Philadelphia and New York.

The Corn Products Refining company was visited at Edgewater, N. J. where numerous coin products are manufactured and most of them exported. At Jersey City the latest improved methods for making toilet soaps and powders were seen in Colgate and Company's plant. On the roof of this plant is the largest advertising sign in the world, the letters measuring twelve feet; also the largest clock in the world, the hands of which measure about 15 feet. At Bayonne, N. J. the Tidewater Oil company, the largest independent refinery in the world, was visited. The product is put into 5 gallon cans and exported to S. America and Europe. In the same town the Pacific Coast Borax company, where the famous twenty mule team brand of borax is manufactured, was inspected. The raw product comes from California. At Passaic, N. J., the Manhattan Rubber Works were visited, where garden hose, fire hose, etc., are made. At Newark, the Murphy Varnish Works and the Carbona Products company's plants were inspected. The American Smelting and Refining company which refines gold, silver, copper and lead, most of which comes

THE THESPIANS

A Big Performance Assured by our Dramatic Organization.

The first performance of "Popocaterpillar VII" will be given tomorrow night by the Thespians in the Auditorium. The play is a musical comedy and promises to be the best thing ever put on by the dramatic organization. No expense has been spared to make it a success. Mr. Downing, the coach, has been working with the cast and chorus for over a month, and the performance Friday night will show the results of careful training. The finest kind of costumes have been secured. The chorus girls will appear in different dresses in each act, and the many beautiful gowns of the Queen and Princess will fairly dazzle the audience. Scenery from Bellefonte will be used for one act.

The lines of the play are full of jokes from beginning to end and the funny situations that King Popocaterpillar and his court get into will keep things merry the whole evening. The monotony of the fun is relieved by solos by Mr. Armstrong and other members of the cast and by the singing and dancing of the chorus. The chorus dancing will be one of the finest features of the play. The music will be by an orchestra of eleven men picked from the college orchestra.

On Tuesday morning the troupe, consisting of thirty-nine men, will leave for Bloomsburg, where the play will be given that night. After the performance they will all attend a dance. On Wednesday night they show in the Lycoming Opera
