

COLLEGE NOTES.

The faculty of the School of Liberal Arts has recently had the pleasure of listening to a course of three very good lectures. On April 17, William E. Swyer, Professor of English in Ohio Wesleyan University spoke on "Spiritual Truth in the Poetry of Tennyson." On April 24, Prof. Edward W. Chubb, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts of Ohio University spoke on "Shakespeare as a Moral Teacher." and on April 24 the topic was "Some Present Day Scientific Limitations" by H. B. Davis, Prof. of Sociology and Pedagogics in California State Normal.

Some available money which has been given to the Agricultural department for practical horticulture is being used at present at the Armory and at the main entrance to the campus. Flowers and ornamental shrubbery are to be planted and their care and growth studied. It is to be a nucleus for a course in landscape gardening.

Mr. Downton, in charge of the apprentice courses at the Westinghouse Mfg. company of Pittsburg, spoke Monday to the senior and junior electricals.

The beautiful E. S. Stevenson cups, which are annually given to the winners of the interclass wrestling matches, are now on view in the Athletic store window. They were awarded to Neidig, Brown, McEntire, Meade and Lesh, all of the 1911 class, who took ten straight falls from the freshmen last autumn on the Old Beaver field.

The Penn State Alumni residing in and about Boston have subscribed a sum sufficient to purchase medals for the interclass athletic contests this spring. A special design has been made and the medals will soon be cast and placed on exhibition.

Orchestra stag Saturday night. This is the first of a series to be given by the orchestra and band to help defray some expenses for instruments and music, and should receive the support of everybody.

According to an old custom which was revived last year, the senior class will begin on Sunday to wear their caps and gowns at Sunday chapel services for the remainder of the year.

The speaker in chapel for Sunday, May 2, will be Bishop Darlington.

A FOOL FOR HIS CLIENT

has the man who is his own lawyer. Yet in how many other matters, as vitally important, do most of us act blindly, without accurate information and sound advice. This very day you are doubtless considering some question connected with business, finance or investment, employment, public or private affairs, studies, club work, travel, or other problems of interest and importance to you, and would welcome reliable, prompt, complete information and good, sound, unprejudiced, confidential advice, because these form the basis of all correct action and satisfactory results. Hitherto they have been obtainable only at an almost prohibitive cost of time, travel, trouble, and money. Now you consult us and obtain the information or advice you need at a minimum of effort and expense. We are not a detective bureau of fortune tellers or dealers in tips and systems or miracle workers, but are simply a body of experts and trained investigators, whose sole business it is to furnish accurate information and sound advice in ordinary or unusual affairs. Whether your needs have to do with important problems or simple matters, we believe we can help you, and will gladly send you free further information as to our methods, charges, and the field we cover. Just write for particulars, stating your needs.

"Burde" Cree, '08, has gained a permanent place on the New York Americans, according to a New York dispatch to the North American. It further states that Cree is considered a better man in every department of the game than Hemphill, whose place he took in the second game with Washington. When Hemphill was taken sick after the opening game, "Burde" was put in his position, and has since been playing such good ball that Manager Stallings will keep him in the game permanently. "Burde" said, when seen in Washington during vacation, "I don't like this business waiting for some one to get sick, before I can get into the game. If I get the chance, I'll show them I want to stay in for good, and I'll make good once I get the regular position."

Dr. Sparks will deliver the commencement address tonight at the Curwensville High School. Next Wednesday he addresses the Chamber of Commerce at Erie.
