ORCHESTRA TRIP

Our Orchestra Leaves Next Week for a Short Trip.

A new departure in State's musical circles is the trip by the orchestra to be made next week. Never before has State ever had an orchestra to compare with the one this year. Heretofore the organization has always been limited to about twelve members to furnish music for the various entertainments, but this year Mr. Allport's aim has been to produce a real concert orchestra, one of which Penn State can well be proud. His ability and confidence as a leader, together with the excellent material in college has enabled him to bring about a very capable organization, handling only the best of classical and popular music.

The success which the organization is bound to receive on its initial trip will surely repay the members for their hard work, and the entire college for any interest they have shown in it.

They have made good at some of the recent big college dances, and can produce an excellent concert program just as well.

On Wednesday night, May 12, they will play in Philipsburg under the auspices of the Episcopal church, and on Thursday night in the Court-house at Bellefonte. Friday, May 14, they will play in the Auditorium, and at each of the concerts will be assisted by Mr. H. P. Armstrong with orchestra accompaniment.

The following men will make the trip: 1st violins, L. F. Meissner '10, P. M. Snavely '10, C. L. Chapman '11, E. M. Frid '10, D. P. Robinson

Germain the Wizard.

On Friday evening, May the seventh, the last of the Y. M. C. A. entertainments will be given by Mr. Karl Germain. For his performance, which is one of magic, mystery, and illusion, he has gained the highest praise throughout England, where he has been for the last two years. Mr. Germain will be assisted by Miss Ida Germain at the piano, and Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Brathwaite in their comedy interlude "On the Thames." The evening's entertainment will without doubt be very enjoyable.

SENIOR BANQUET

The Last Banquet of 1909 Carried off Successfully at Bellefonte.

The last banquet of the class of 1909 was held at the Bush House in Bellefonte on last Friday night, and was attended by about sixty-five of its members.

W. Eckels proved himself as able a toastmaster as a "minstrel man" and kept every one in good spirits. The first speaker was K. H. Marsh, who responded to the toast "Our Class," and many times he was interrupted by applause. W. E. Martin sang the praises of "The Faculty," and we are sure that august body would have enjoyed listening. F. I. Woltz talked on "Reminiscences" bringing to the minds of those present all the little things which help make college life worth while. The "Fussers" were exposed by W. C. Weaver who hardly missed a man. J. G. Béchold revised the air castles of his classmates, telling about "1909 in 1929." The last toast was by J. K. Musgrave on "The Parting of the Ways" which the seniors are speedily approaching.

Everyone felt, as the banquet was drawn to a close, that it was the best banquet 1909 has ever had, and that the good fellowship and strong spirit that has always characterized the class was further strengthened.

The committee in charge of the affair were H. A. Bole, chairman, A. L. Barnett, F. H. Beyer, D. S. Devor, and F. D. Dornblaser.
