

More Wrestlers Wanted.

The interclass wrestling match which will be held on the first Saturday in November is now only three weeks off. Each manager has his squad hard at work, if the small handful of men representing the largest two classes in the college can be called a squad. The wrestling match is an interclass game and a real live one too, and one that should bring out the best wrestlers in each class. Is it possible to believe that out of a freshman class of over four hundred, the best men can be chosen from the first twenty-five or thirty that turn out? Or is it safe to say that from a sophomore class of over three hundred men, many of whom already belong to the wrestling club, that only thirty-four men are good enough wrestlers to even come out and try for the team? From the eagerness displayed by both lower classes in getting into unscheduled scraps it would seem that at least a hundred men ought to be out for their wrestling teams. Heavy weights are lacking, especially in the freshman class.

The different weights are such that not a man in college can be excluded for that reason. There are seven classes altogether, 115 lbs., 125 lbs., 135 lbs., 148 lbs., 158 lbs. and 168 lbs., and heavyweight. It is a pretty sure bet that not more than one man who was on the mat last year will be there this time, and both managers say that not a single position on their teams, has been settled, in fact both of them say that they can hardly pick a seven man team from the few men who have had enough class spirit to come out and try for their team. It will be a case of giving the places away without competition, if the men keep dropping off as they have been every evening since wrestlers were called for. The sophomores meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening, and the freshmen every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday evening at seven o'clock. If you know anything about wrestling come out and help the fellows who do not know anything about it. If you never wrestled but think you would like to, don't hesitate because you are new at the game. Some of the best athletes State ever produced were men who came to school without any athletic pedigree. So come out and try for your class team and do all in your power to help them win and make the wrestling match a success.
