CHAS. A. WOMER, State College

Word just comes to us that C. W. Lawrence, '97, has won laurels for State at the Pacific coast, through his election as head of the department of Civil Engineering at the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles. Mr. Lawrence, since graduation has been in turn, connected with the Penna. Steel Co., Steelton, Pa., the Brown-Ketcham Iron Works, Indianapolis, Ind., and the American Bridge Co., Chicago, Ill. In addition to these positions, he was instructor in structural engineering at the Pennsylvania State college from 1904-06, and professor of civil engineering at the James Milliken university in Illinois from 1906-'07.

New York Alumni

On the evening of Sept. 27th, eight old State men met at the Manhattan hotel, New York City, at a dinner given by B. B. Horton, '95, in honor of John B. White, '94. John B. White resides in London, England, at which place he is in charge of the J. G. White company Ltd, and has been a resident of that city for nine years. Mr. White was on a business trip to this country and returned to England on the 29th.

Those present at the dinner were Gilbert A. Beaver, '90; J. F. Shields, '92; Roy B. Mattern, '93; A. F. Damon, '94; J. B. White, '94; B. B. Horton, '95; W. K. Gibboey, '95 and C. W. Hardt, '97. Numerous telegrams together with several letters were received from others. Many of the men had not seen each other for years and a very happy evening was spent by all, in fact, the whole night was spent at it.

As a matter of coincidence it may be mentioned that on the day following the dinner, J. B. White received a cablegram stating that a daughter had been born to him on that day.

Sage chapel at Cornell has a new pipe organ. It is a four manual instrument and cost $15,000.
