Tickets for the Pitt Game.

After November 22 no reserved seat tickets at Forbes Field in the "State" sections can be secured. Now they can be purchased by mail from R. H. Smith '05, 2323 Farmers B. B., Pittsburg, as explained in last week's "Collegian," but after Monday all the remaining grandstand and box-seats originally reserved for the Blue and White adherents will be on sale to the general public.

Five hundred cheering section tickets at fifty cents each have been received by manager McKee and are on sale to all of our students. These tickets should be bought before going to Pittsburg, since our manager's Pittsburg representatives have consented to a reduction in the price of general admission from $1 to $50 for everybody. By buying all the tickets beforehand for our bleachers cheering section, there will be no room for outsiders in the State section when the game begins on Thanksgiving afternoon, and there will be one solid section of rooters ready to cheer our valiant eleven from beginning to end.

There is going to be a meeting between two giants one week from today. The battle will occur in Pittsburg and the opponents will be Pitt and Penn State. Undoubtedly our eleven is a good one—a very good one—and out in the Smoky City they claim to have one of the finest elevens in the country.

Pittsburg's 17 to 3 victory over W. and J. last Saturday would show that the students of our rival school are not far wrong in their estimate of their eleven. The Washington and Jefferson team, always a sturdy
