ORCHESTRA CONCERT

A Special Director and Violin Soloist to Make a Successful Concert on March 5—Mr. Armstrong to Sing.

Mr. Hamlin E. Cogswell, who so ably directed the College Orchestra between semesters on the evening of Jan. 30, has been secured for their annual concert this coming March 5. With many of the best players absent at the last concert, Mr. Cogswell nevertheless worked up a finished performance, which received the highest praise from all who were present.

It is needless to say that the coming concert will surpass any heretofore given by the Orchestra. The aim of this organization in the last two years has been to develop into a Symphony Orchestra. This has been accomplished by the recent addition of a full set of tympani and a large crash cymbal. Those who have heard large symphony orchestras will of course appreciate these additions, as they know the prominent part tympani play in working out themes in symphonies. The crash cymbal will be very effective in bringing out crash parts and working up crescendos. These instruments will be heard for the first time in the coming concert.

The Orchestra has now a membership of thirty, which represents the instrumentation used in large symphony orchestras. At present there are two flutes, one oboe, one bassoon, two clarinets, two trumpets, two French horns, three trombones, one tuba, tympani, ten violins, two violas, one cello, and two basses.

Mr. William Wrigley, who will assist the orchestra, is a violinist well known in musical circles in the western part of the state. His work in the Minneapolis Symphony and Chautauqua Orchestra, Chautauqua, N. Y., has given him a reputation as a very fine violinist. He will appear in solo work and occupy the concert-master's chair.

The evening would not be complete without a baritone solo by Mr. Armstrong. Everybody enjoys his singing so thoroughly, that his appearance on the program will be one of the most attractive features.

The management is expending every effort to make this entertainment a success, and one that is worthy of the best support. Bulletins will soon be put up announcing further particulars. Plans are being made for a series of concerts on a trip to several central Pennsylvania towns. The schedule now includes Bellefonte, Altoona, Philipsburg, Mansfield and Wellsboro.

Engine Test at Ridgway.

A party of mechanicals visited the Ridgway Dynamo and Engine Co. at Ridgway Pa. last week to perform a series of tests on a new engine which the company has just put out. The tests were made at the invitation of the Company and will constitute the graduation thesis of one of the party. Those who made the tests are G. E. Ogilvie, J. Yoder, G. B. Wharen, R. B. Fehr and C. Bush.

Another change will be the establishment of a four years' course in Greek, enabling Freshmen to begin the study in their first year.
