

Substantial College Spirit.

Every indication points to the fact that the New York and Philadelphia Alumni associations will furnish the remainder of the money necessary to build the New Beaver Field baseball grandstand. The class of 1911 has pledged $2000 for that purpose.

The freshman class has promised what remains of the damage fund for two years toward an out-of-doors pool beside the New Beaver Field. The pool will be constructed with an expanse of shallow water on two sides so that a large surface for skating will be had. Then Old State can develop a hockey seven that will undoubtedly be good, since there will be plenty of opportunity for practice.

The Dead is Alive!

The Collegian is in receipt of a letter from F. I. Woltz '09, stating that he is very much alive at present instead of being dead and buried as noted in last week's issue of the Collegian. We are very glad, indeed, to learn that this is the case, although we had information from a Chambersburg resident and a friend of his that he really was dead. The unfortunate person whose body was accompanied by Mr. Postlethwaite, was Mr. H. J. Bertschy, Lehigh '10, who lived in Patterson. Mr. Woltz is in the transformer department of the Wagner Electric Co. and lives at 5882 Julian avenue, St Louis, Mo.

Special Notice.

All competitive designs for the cover of the Thespian Program should be handed to Prof. Frizzell, or to E. C. Turner, at the S. A. E. House, on or before February 18th, 1910.

The engagement of Dr. P. H. Dale '03 and J. Mary Thompson '05 has recently been announced. The wedding will take place within the next few months.
