

Forestry Notes.

Since the Easter vacation began several Juniors and Sophomores have been doing some work for the Pennsylvania Railroad. The men were divided into three parties. One party composed of Macfarlane, Goodyear, Borden, Harlow and Kuhns was stationed at Conewago, Pa. Huse, Craighead, Henwood, Coffman and Sears composed the party which was located at Kinzer, Pa., while Bradbury, Pinner and Shober were situated at Morrisville, N. J. The first two parties were engaged in pruning yellow locust trees and in planting coniferous seedlings. The third party busied themselves by packing seedlings for shipment to the planting grounds.

The fellows did such good work that Mr. Foley, Assistant Forester of the P. R. R., wrote to Prof Ferguson asking that the fellows be allowed to remain for another week. But this would have necessitated too long an absence from college work and consequently this request could not be granted.

The Forestry Department has recently received visits from Mr. S. B. Elliott, a member of the Pennsylvania State Forestry Commission, and Mr. John Foley, Assistant Forester of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

Here is something that will be music to the true Forester's ear: The salary of the Forest Assistant has been raised from $1000 per year and expenses to $1200 per year and expenses. The Ranger's salary has also been increased to $1100. The former is the position obtained by our graduates who pass the civil service.

"Twelfth Night."

On Saturday afternoon the Ben Greet company presented in a most acceptable manner Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." As is uniformly the case in their production, the company showed themselves to be clever, versatile, and evenly bal-
