Tuberculosis Exhibit Here.

The State Tuberculosis exhibit brought here under the auspices of the Civic club has done much toward educating the people of Pennsylvania in making an intelligent fight against consumption and will be placed in the armory Thursday and Friday of this week, April 28 and 29. Several officials of the Department of Health will accompany the exhibit and give short talks. There will be an illustrated lecture in the Auditorium on Thursday at 3 p. m. open to the public. Many students after going into practical work in our large cities will be frequently exposed to the disease and should know how to guard against it. Forewarned is fore armed is decidedly true in this great campaign against that disease which has levied such a heavy toll upon humanity both in lives and money for many centuries. We are only beginning to learn how to eradicate this plague which in the course of several decades ought to be a thing of the past in our country.
