

played almost flawless ball. Harry Leidick kept Albright's hits well scattered and our own batters, especially Eberlein and Bubb, hit when hits meant runs. Our team worked in about as clever fashion in the Albright game as it has done this year.

At Lewisburg came the final and all important struggle on the trip last Saturday, when Bucknell was downed 2 to 1 in ten innings. It proved to be a great pitchers' battle between Klepfer and Northrup and our own sturdy twirler came out with the laurels of victory just as he did at Cornell earlier this year. Our Bucknell slate is now clean during this college year since the Orange and Blue lost in football 33 to 0 last fall and was defeated twice in basketball last winter 52 to 13 and 23 to 10—previous to last week's baseball victory.

The Bucknellians got an early start. In the third inning Manning reached first on Eberlein's error and went to second when "Eber" secured Loveland's hard hit bouncer toward first and got to the sack before the winner. Daniels hit for a single, the ball dropping at Bubb's feet, and Manning went to third, but Blythe touched out the Bucknell first baseman at second on Vorhis' true "peg." C. Piez walked; then Bubb dropped Clark's fly, which was hard to see against the hill as a background. This gave Bucknell their only run since Clark was caught "flat-footed" between first and second; Bien got the credit for the final putout of the inning. After that the home nine did not look dangerous except in the fourth inning when W. Piez hit for three bases with one out; then Klepfer struck out the next two men.

Bucknell's run in the third inning looked big considering the way the two pitchers were working. Then with two out in the fourth Blythe hit a terrific drive over middlefielder Clark's head and had passed the plate when the ball came back into the infield. Hits by McCleary and Klepfer in the fifth and seventh innings respectively netted us nothing as they were not followed with timely swats, but Klepfer had the home batters at his mercy and the crowd of 5000 people settled down to see what would happen first.

For five innings the score remained a tie at 1, then Bien made a clean hit to middle field which bounced over Clark's head and rolled out to the tennis courts, the little shortstop making the circuit without trouble. There was nothing further doing for us in that inning and the first three men on the Bucknell batting list were retired in order in their half of the tenth inning. It was a splendid game whose winning brought joy to 1300 loyal Blue and White undergraduates here in school and to hundreds of others out in the wide, wide world.
