$1000 for One Story

A Prize Offer of $2250 for Three Short Stories by Girls' College Alumnae

The Editors of The Ladies' Home Journal offer to the alumnae of girls' colleges three prizes, amounting to $2250, for three short stories

$1000 for the Best Short Story
$750 for the Next Best Short Story
$500 for the Third Best Short Story

Any phase of life of interest to women may be described. Do not be deterred from competing because you are not a writer or have not a literary style. If you have a real story to tell, tell it to the best of your ability and let us judge the result. Even if your story does not take a prize it may be so attractive that we will want to buy it, for we hope to purchase a number of the stories in addition to the prize-winning ones.

Read These Special Points Carefully and Keep Them in Mind

The stories must contain at least two thousand words, but not more than seven thousand words. There is no limit to the number of stories which may be submitted by any one competitor. Stories by two or more alumnae working in collaboration will be considered. The stories should be typewritten if possible. If that is out of the question then the handwriting should be neat and clear.

Manuscripts must be written on one side of the paper only, and sent either flat or folded. Do not roll them, nor send letters with them unless special explanations are needed.

Be careful to put your name, your address, the name of your college, and the year of your class at the head of the manuscript. If married give in parenthesis your full name at the time of your graduation. Where manuscripts are the work of more than one graduate these details must be given by each collaborator.

Be sure to preserve the original manuscript or to retain a copy of your story, as no manuscripts will be returned. No postage, therefore, need be inclosed. Such stories as are to be found worthy will be awarded prizes, others will be considered for purchase at good rates, the rest will be destroyed.

We reserve the right to withhold any or all of the prizes if in our judgment the stories do not come up to the required standard.

This offer will remain open until November thirtieth. All stories must be mailed so as to be in our hands on or before that date.

Read these conditions over carefully. They are stated here as clearly as they can be stated, hence do not write to us about them, as such letters of inquiry cannot be answered.

Address all short stories intended for entry in this prize competition to

Agricultural News.

The senior and junior horticulturists left last Monday for one week's trip into the fruit region of northwestern Pennsylvania and southwestern New York. About twenty-five students made up the party which will make stops at Erie, Pa., Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y., and of other places of interest in the heart of this great fruit and grain region. During this trip the methods employed by the large fruit growers will be studied.

STATE MAN MARRIED.

J. F. Tittle, Class of '04, Weds a Schenectady Girl.

Miss Kathleen Whitbeck Hotchkiss and John Franklin Tittle were married at 8 o'clock on the evening of Sept. 28 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hotchkiss, 70 Union avenue. There were about 175 guests present for the wedding and the reception following. The residence was handsomely decorated with ferns, vines and flowers. In the entrance hall the chandelier was covered with asparagus fern and the stair rail with maidenhair fern. In the room back of the hall the orchestra was stationed behind a bank of palms. A profusion of asparagus fern almost hid the white woodwork of the doorways and arches in the drawing rooms and the mantels were banked with ferns and white roses and chrysanthemums. An arch of tall palms formed an attractive background for the bridal party during the ceremony.

To the strains of the bridal music from Lohengrin the wedding party came in procession down the stairs and through the rooms to the second drawing room where the ceremony was performed. Rev. Dr. B. W. R. Taylor, rector of St. George's Church, the officiating clergyman, came first. He was followed by the bridegroom and best man. The bridesmaids, each accompanied by an usher, came next, then the maid of honor and last the bride with her father. The best man was Ray Stearns of Schenectady and Ernest Wesley Clark, Delafield DuBois, J. Mason Hotchkiss, brother of the bride and Paul Olin Noble, all of Schenectady, acted as ushers. Miss Flora L. Wood of Whitehall was maid of honor and Miss Bertha Tittle of Chambersburg, Pa., sister of the bridegroom, Miss Estelle C. Evison of Albany, Miss Marion Hawlett of Boston and Miss Laura C. Glen of Schenectady were the bridesmaids.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held, when the bride's mother and grandmother and the bridegroom's sister received with the other members of the wedding party—Schenectady Gazette, Sept. 29, 1910.
