A THIRD BIG SCORE

State Warriors Easily Triumph Over the Sterling Athletic Club of Wilkinsburg.

One-hundred-sixty-four points for the Blue and White against none for her opponents in the first three gridiron contests of the season sounds large, but such is certainly the present record of captain Gray's men. By running up a score of 45 to 0 over the Sterlings of Pittsburg last Saturday our total score thus far came within two points of the final mark reached by the best eleven we ever had—"Larry" Vorhis's 1909 aggregation. The truth is that the whole trio of games played to date have been but practice affairs and now our team will come more into the college limelight when Penn is played this Saturday, Villanova on Oct. 29, St Bonaventure on Nov. 5, Bucknell 12, and Pitt on Thanksgiving day.

The "sturdy front" shown by last Saturday's visitors on New Beaver field was soon caved in when after 50 seconds of play "Big Haek" Gray scored our first touchdown. Barrett had kicked off strongly and the Sterlings had twice tried for gains through our line when they were compelled to kick. The wide-awake Harry Weaver went through the line like a flash and blocked the punt, Gray picked up the pigskin and scored without difficulty. "Tom" Piolet kicked an easy goal, after which the score stood—State 6, Sterlings 0, and the students yelled themselves hoarse and the loyal college band struck up various sweet and appropriate refrains. That band certainly did add a lot of interest to an otherwise listless game.

Undoubtedly the aggregation from one of Pittsburg's religious suburbs would have proved a trifle harder had our attack been directed strictly between tackle and tackle since the athletes from Wilkinsburg were much heavier than our linemen. As it was, quarterback Miller diversified his plays so much, even though he used but six or eight different formations—that the big fellows were bewildered and proved no match for captain Gray's speedy warriors. On the other hand the visitors were slow and their interference, although good sometimes, was never dangerous because it was shoved aside before it had a chance to start well. McCall tackled splendidly and his work alone stood out for the Sterlings.

After Gray had scored the first touchdown, Very, Engle and Barrett all made scores before the first 12 minute period had elapsed. It ended 22 to 0.

Harlow secured a fumble and made our first points in the second quarter, after which the Sterlings strengthened somewhat on the defense. Our backfield, without the disabled Mauthe, did not work as conceitedly as it should have and the accurate kicking of Mauthe, both after touchdowns and from the field, was badly missed.

A pretty forward pass from Miller to Harlow gave us our only score of the third quarter. In the last period Miller scored after a 25 yard run and Wilson made a nice touchdown on a forward pass. Barrett kicked the goal which made the final score State 45, Sterling 0.

Miller and Piolet did well on end runs while Barrett's 55 yard dash following the ninth kick-off was the longest of the game "Dick" Harlow handled himself unusually well at his new position at right end. As expected Dexter Very played a great game at halfback and there is no doubt that he will make a brilliant backfield man; it is only hoped that his injury of last Saturday will be entirely well before the Penn struggle. Riddle worked in good style at left guard and "Pete Johnson played his usual clean cut, finished game when placed at left tackle. The game, while not a good test of our strength, served to give the loyal student body even more confidence that our eleven is a good one and well worthy of all the support that can be given it.

Agricultural News.

Mayor Reyburn of Philadelphia has consented to give up his reception room in the city hall to all those who desire to hear the results of the research work being done in their state along agricultural lines.

The Experiment station of this college has lately received many communications from people in and around Philadelphia requesting the results of various experiments carried on at this station. So that a greater number of people may be benefited, Mayor Reyburn is giving this opportunity to the citizens to learn what is going on in the line of research work being carried out at the Pennsylvania Experiment station and the results that have been obtained. November 17-18-19 have been the days set for the occasion. The Pennsylvania railroad has made a request that three special farmers' trains be fitted out and sent over its road during the winter. The three runs will include the main line from Pittsburg to Altoona, the Cumberland Valley, and a branch line not yet decided upon.

Sunday Evening Band Concert.

The initial band concert of the year brought out a large crowd last Sunday evening at the Auditorium. If the first performance can be used to judge by, the band will no doubt have a successful year both from the standpoint of the persons who desire to hear good music and of the band members themselves. Each selection, from the first number on the program to the last, was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. Mr. P. M. Snavelly who took the place of Mr. L. F. Meissner as director of the band proves himself a capable leader for such an organization.

The extra number on the program consisting of a solo by Mr. G. E. Bender, accompanied by Miss Atherton, was much appreciated.

Bazaar Coming.

The members of the Epworth Bible class of St. Paul's M. E. church will hold a bazaar in the basement of the new church during the first week in December. There will be a postoffice at which the fellows can get mail from their sweethearts. It will be great, so watch for more detailed announcements.

THE ANNUAL PENNGAME REUNION OF MEMBERS PENN LOOKS

Our Warriors Bold Are in Need of a Thousand Loyal Supporters in Next Saturday's Game at Philadelphia.

Thus far our football games have not been of the kind to arouse the "State Spirit in all its enthusiasm and intensity, but with the Penn game but two days off and the loyalty shown to the team at mass meetings this week, we find that after all Old State has a real football eleven this year. Prophet "Andy" Lytle's dope shows that even though we have never downed the Quakers on the gridiron, yet we have made more creditable showings year by year until 1909, when the Sons of Penn State invaded Philadelphia and gave U. of P. the state of its life. When the smoke blew away captain Miller's eleven considered itself fortunate to have held the Blue and White to a tie score, 3 to 3.

History also shows that in two of the three football arguments just prior to the 1909 battle, our players held the Quakers to a single touchdown in each case. Among our past elevens which stand out prominently as having scored on Penn are captain Holey's in '93, McCaskey's in '95, "Henny" Scholl's in 1900, and "Effervescent" Hewitt's in 1901. We doubt, however, that our old teams felt in their bones when they left the foot of Old Mount Nittany that they would come back victorious. This year it is a little different, if we are to believe the words of head coach Jack Hottenback, himself an old end and halfback at Penn:

"Pennsylvania has one of the best teams in her history this year," said he after returning from the Penn-Brown contest of last Saturday, "but so have we. And we are going to Philadelphia TO WIN!"

To date, our rivals in the eastern end of the state have made the following record: Penn 5, Ursinus 8; Penn 18, Dickinson 0, Penn 29, Gettysburg 0; Penn 18, F. and M. 0, Penn 38, West Virginia 0, and Penn 20, Brown 0. Undoubtedly the Quakers have had the advantage of more experience than we have this season, and their work has shown great improvement, yet there is a comparatively light, speedy, aggressive eleven which will change its residence from State College to Philadelphia for a few days at the end of this week to give Old Penn one of the sturdiest battles it ever had. Not an "S" man will be in our backfield now that Mauthe is incapacitated but with a splendid veteran line and a backfield that is ambitious, gritty and as speedy as anything Old Penn has, there is a keen encounter ahead. More rooters are going to Penn this time than ever before—just to show our well-placed confidence in "Alek" Gray's team—and the Collegian has left all its valuable with an "old uncle" for a time so that it may get to Philadelphia in a body and hear the Nittany Mountain Lion out roar the Quaker shouter. May the splendid performance of our team on Franklin field just one year ago next Saturday be duplicated and bettered this year!

RETURNS OF STATE PENN FOOTBALL GAME ON ELECTRIC SCORE-BOARD IN OLD CHAPEL ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON AT 2:30 P. M.

Of Class of 1910, Who are Located in the Vicinity of Pittsburg.

Although but a short time out of college, a small section of the class of 1910 has already had a reunion. It happened last Thursday night at the home of "Bunny" Dunn on Pacific avenue, Pittsburg, and was, indeed, a most enjoyable affair. "State" alumni have always been pretty numerous in the Pittsburg district, but the last class seems to be better represented than any other. There were fourteen present on this occasion who were all full of enthusiasm about life in the "wide, wide world" but yet who still had warm place in their hearts for Penn State. Past experiences and anecdotes of the college days brought out the spirit and the good old college yell and 1910 class yell as nothing else could do. Those present were "Bunny" Dunn, Ralph E. Disque, ex '10, E. W. Stitt, A. W. Fisher, C. E. Butt, T. G. Haugh, D. C. Ellinger, A. T. Brown, G. A. Hoy, J. F. White, H. H. Hillegass, R. B. Fehr, G. W. Kerr, J. H. Graber. Those in the vicinity who were not able to be there were A. L. Fretz, H. B. Norris, A. D. Abbiss, Alfred Schein, F. S. Gillespie, J. H. Harrison, O. C. Schoenfeld.

Electrical Banquet.

Speeches, music and eats reigned supreme at McAllister hall last Tuesday evening when the Junior Electricals gave their annual banquet to the Senior Electricals. Before has a more enjoyable time been spent at a banquet. State College than around the "E" formed tables surrounded by the juniors and seniors of the electrical department.

After the Menu had been served, toasts were responded to by members of the faculty and students all of which abounded in humor and good advice. Paul Forsyth, '12, acted as an able toastmaster and called upon the following men for toasts.

The Future of Penn State, Dr. E. E. Sparks, 1911 Electricals, L. H. Rogers; 1912 Electricals, L. R. Eyans, Character and the Engineer, Dean J. P. Jackson; "Transformers"; C. C. Christ, The Coming Electrical Department, Prof. C. L. Kinsloe Electrical Illusions, J. M. Spangler; impromptus.

Fruit Show.

The Horticultural department of the Pennsylvania State college will hold its fourth annual educational fruit show during Farmers' week, Dec. 10 to 24. At the show last year three hundred plates of fruit in addition to box and barrel packs were shown, representing seventy-eight varieties from fifty-six different counties. This year the department will endeavor to have every county represented and is especially anxious to have Centre county well represented. Every grower is invited to save his best fruit and send from six to eight specimens of each variety for this exhibit.

Further, every grower and lover of fruit is invited to visit this apple show on one of the above dates.

It is entirely educational in character and no premiums are offered.

Rev Chas Lec, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Carbondale, will speak at Sunday morning's chapel service.

FORMIDABLE

Red and Blue Team Shows Remarkable Improvement and Will Give State a Hard Fight.

Quakertown will be the next scene of battle for a big game and already there is a growing interest and apprehensive sentiment in many Philadelphian's minds as to what Penn State will look like when the Blue and White team trots on Franklin field next Saturday afternoon. Last year's 3-3 score is not forgotten and the quality of football that State played on their late appearance, still has a prominent place in the minds of the staunchest Penn supporters.

True enough Penn has been humbled once this season, when Ursinus took her into camp but that was at the opening of the season and the game was very new to all of the big teams. But the Quakers are going at full speed now, and they will send a strong team on the field to combat State's aggregation, with every intention of taking what they believe to be their own.

On the other hand, State has had no test of her real strength as yet, and with one of the hardest games on the schedule coming at this time the outcome cannot be readily predicted. One thing is certain and that is, that Penn will have something on their hands that they know and fully appreciate is a hard proposition, and that is the Penn State always has been and probably always will be. Past scores contested and hard fought these games were and this year, our team goes down as strong as it ever was.

What Captain Gray Says.

"Our game with Penn next Saturday will be hard fought at every point and we are going to hold our end up. Unfortunately, we have had, as yet no real test of our strength but the team as a whole is working fairly well.

"We have a veteran line but the backfield is entirely new, now that Mauthe is out, and it is difficult to tell how the new backfield will work with, so little opportunity to play together.

"Our chances are good, and we will go to Philadelphia to win, and with the present good spirit of the team, we will give Penn a good run for the long end of the score."

Everybody Goes to Philadelphia.

Manager Cuthbert has secured the best rate we have ever had to go to the Penn game. A special fare of $6.75 has been offered for a number of men exceeding 150 and that makes it possible for nearly every student in college to attend.

Princeton, which has but a few more students than State, took a thousand men to Easton last Saturday and they had the satisfaction of seeing their team down Lafayette, and they helped the team to do it.

Why cannot State take a thousand men to Philadelphia and help in the same cause. When State defeats Penn every State man should be there to have a hand in it. As it is, every year a mere handful of students journey to Philadelphia, and the team fights the battle alone on the enemy's territory.

There are only two football trips this year and every student in college will at least take one of them. Start in with this game and we will all meet on Franklin Field next Saturday afternoon ready to give the college yell when Captain Gray and his team appears on the field.
