THE PITT GAME With the Pitt game on Thanksgiving day, State will formally close her football season of 1910. Undoubtedly the Western Pennsylvanians have one of the strongest teams in their football history this year and their record this season is assuredly a most enviable one. There is, however, just one lingering doubt in Pittsburgers minds now and that is what the outcome of the Thanksgiving game will be.

Last Saturday's game with Bucknell showed the powerful State machine working at its rated efficiency and the perfection of our attack on Bucknell was practically irresistible. This same form has made itself more or less evident in every game this season but unfortunately there were many times when chance did not favor us and our road was entirely uphill. Again, with the many injuries that from time to time put some of our stars out of the game, the team had to necessarily be shifted around to such an extent that it weakened the concentration of both offense and defence. In spite of these facts, Captain Gray's eleven has upheld the State reputation in football: "A clean, fast team, that plays hard consistent football and gives and takes all equally well."

The game at Pittsburg is less than a week off now and one week from tonight this year's team will live in history. The present determination of the individual men on the team practically assures us of closing our season with a victory over the University of Pittsburg. At the present time the team is in excellent condition and the perfection of team work is self-evident to all. Pitt will undoubtedly give us a hard run but from all indications the State team has proven her strength and there is nothing to fear for next week.

The question now comes up, "Who will support the team?" The alumni of course. We understand that the loyal alumni in the western part of the State will give their best to the support of the team, but just a little more is necessary and that comes from the student body. A special train will be provided for the occasion and the fare will be so regulated that a large number of students will be able to attend. Those who make the trip year after year will tell you that it is the best trip of the season and one you will be amply repaid for taking.

Just a moment's thought will convince you that the next best thing you can do is to support the memory boys in the football game experienced this season. The game in 1910 will be the game, and support the team which has proven its sterling qualities in every game this season and which will further display them on Forbes field against Pitt next Thursday

THE STUDENT BODY EXCELS The students are to be highly commended and warmly congratulated for the active part they took in making the incoming members of the legislature comfortable during their recent visit to the college.

In no case could there have been more genuine courtesy extended to a body of visitors and it really appeared as though every man in college did something to make their stay here an impressive one.

It was indeed a pleasure to have these representative men from various parts of the state here and we know that the work that is being accomplished in this institution will reach every corner of the state as a result of what the legislators viewed while on State ground.

We hope in the next four years to have them here individually and for a longer period of time, that they may become thoroughly familiar with every act that plays a part in the general working of one of the most rapidly advancing state institutions in the United States today.

Second Semester German.

To prevent misunderstanding on the part of students, advisers and deans, the German department makes the following announcement with reference to the work in German for the second semester:

For German 2 are due the freshmen in German 1 in all courses.

For German 4 are due: 1, all freshmen now in German 3, excepting those engineering and agricultural students who passed the college examination in German 1 and 2 last September. 2. All sophomores in industrial engineering, forestry, home economics, natural science and liberal arts courses now in German 3.

All sophomores in Agriculture deciding upon, the German option, which this course allows in the second semester, must report such decision at once to the German department.

All sophomores in forestry are due in the second semester for German 4, if now in German 3; and for any German option 60-64 offered, if now in German 5.

All juniors in Forestry are due for German 65, scientific German relating to forestry.

For German 6, (that is for any of the options offered, German 60-64,) are due all sophomores now in German 5 in industrial engineering, forestry (as above), home economics, natural science and liberal arts.

The juniors in chemistry now in German 5 or 7 will be due for German 65, which will be scientific German in chemistry.

The following options will be offered under German 6 and 8, three hours per week

Faust (70) by Fehr Goethe (69) by Assistant Professor Simmons. Conversation for beginners (54) by Herr Starcke.

Advanced conversation (64) by Herr Starcke.

Scientific German (65). German life and culture (68) by Herr Starcke.

Students willing to be scheduled for any of these subjects must not fail to report the matter at once to Athletic Relations Re-established.

It is with much pleasure that this issue of the Collegian announces, that, after two years of severed athletic relations, through the efforts of influential alumni of both teams, relations have been restored between the time-honored and ancient rivals, the Tootpick and Tumbler teams, and that the annual struggle to decide the championship of the Central East will again take place this fall on the local gridiron.

It is not necessary to relate the history of the past bitterly waged struggles on the sodded field between these two rival teams, or how the bonds of relationship were tersely strained and finally broken, as it will only serve to arouse the former feeling of bitterness that existed between the two teams and their loyal supporters. No efforts have been spared to make the reconstructed compact as strong as possible, and it is hoped that a more friendly rivalry will exist in the future. However both teams have fervently decided to wipe out and avenge the 0-0 tie games played for two seasons before the severing of relations.

Both teams are practicing daily under the supervision of a host of experienced coaches and trainers, and no efforts will be spared to have the men in the best possible condition when the two teams line up on the parallel chalk lines. Watch the bulletin boards for further announcement, and "Be there for the kick off"

Schenectady Alumni.
The Schenectady (N. Y.) branch of the Penn State alumni association held an informal dinner and smoker in the Vendome hotel Friday evening, Nov. 18. Many State men were in attendance. Plans were laid for the annual banquet and business meeting to be held sometime in the winter.
