ended and the Gold and Blue was the victor over the Blue and White for the third time in thirteen games. Last Thursday's battle was well fought and one of the most spectacular ever seen on a gridiron. The work of "Dad" Engle on the offense and of Captain Gray, Johnson, Brown and Weaver on the defense was especially good. Workman, Keller, Goedecke and Wilson all handled themselves well when they got into the game. At its conclusion the usual reunion of State men took place at the Fort Pitt Hotel and discussed the question as to who "really" had won the game.

SOMETHING LACKING.

Penn State Spirit Was at a Rather Low Ebb on Thanksgiving Day. Let's get Together, Fellows.

"For the first time in history, the Penn State spirit seemed to be lacking. Despite the frenzied appeals of the two hard working cheer leaders, the student body of the Center County institution refused emphatically to warm up; nothing but half-hearted responses being forthcoming to the demands for 'a good one this time, fellows!' Time after time did the afore-said cheer leaders beseech the State adherents to 'come strong' but each time the response was half-hearted and dispirited." —Pittsburg "Dispatch", Nov. 15, 1910.

Our contemporary has exaggerated a whole lot in his above statement, yet our 300 "students" did not produce the goods as they should have at the recent Pitt game. "Gene" Carson and "Funny" Fullnecky found themselves leading a section of rooters, of which at least half were of the fairer sex—not coeds either. No one but students or alumni should have been in section 1. at Forbes Field last Thursday and the students who got rid of their tickets to girls were far from showing the "Penn State" spirit, especially in the first ten or fifteen rows, where a solid contingent of sturdy voiced Blue-and-white shouters should have held forth.

The Pitt game is by far the best financial game of the season for us and it is annually attended by more State alumni than any other contest. In order to win next year from the Pittsburghers we must have our section filled up with students and a vacation from Thursday over Sunday would help a whole lot. The Western Pennsylvanians are becoming stronger and stronger each year and in order to keep up our big percentage of victories in the past, we must send out a loyal throng of from 600 to 1000 men from Penn State in the coming years. Let us have no repetition of an event concerning which it could even be hinted that the "Penn State spirit" is dying out and above all let no such hint emanate from Pittsburg. And let the rooting section be filled with rooters in the future!

Schenectady Alumni Association.

The annual fall dinner and speaker of the Schenectady branch of the Penn State Alumni association was held at the Hotel Vendome Friday evening Nov. 18. The meeting was enlivened with State songs and cheers and afforded an excellent opportunity for becoming acquainted with the members of the class of 1910 of whom twelve have recently come to Schenectady. Letters were read from Dr. G. G. Pond and Prof. J. P. Jackson, telling of the growth and activities of the college, also a letter from Mr. I. P. Thompson in regard to the Pittsfield Alumni.

Plans were discussed for the dinner to be held later in the winter at which it is hoped to entertain Dr. Sparks, President of the college and other prominent members of the faculty and alumni. The following men were present:

D. H. Plank, '00; D. S. Morgan, '00; P. E. Smith, '02; J. E. Eisenburg, '02; R. L. Streeter, '03; J. F. Tritle, '04; P. O. Noble, '04; C. S. Shoemaker, '07; F. A. Hull, '08; J. D. Woodward, '08; L.
