"Tom" Prollet Makes an End on First Team and Capt. Gray a Guard on the Third Team in the All-Star Football Eleven Chosen From Eastern Colleges by the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"In rounding out a theoretical college players by wonderful playing."-Philadelphia Public Ledger,

Sunday, Dec. 4, 1910 by D. L. Reeves, Sporting Editor. Although Piollet is the only man who made a place on the first team, "Alec" Gray secured a tight hold as a guard on the third team and several more of our players were given honorable mention. Among the latter is "Burly" Watson, who, though outweighed in almost every game during the season, played a wonderful game. He followed the ball like lightning and was hard to doubt the best that have played here line, a line that would be capable of arranging itself in four distinct defensive formations, to meet various attacks, while fully able to present a powerful and versatile protection for an attack, the writer has selected Kılpatrick of Yale, and Piollet of State, as ends. What these two wing men do not know and cannot Dance Programs and Invitations do, in playing the extreme positions of the line, is useless for other players to attempt. These two men are built on different lines. The State star is a counterpart of Hinkey, Yale, Campbell and Bowditch, Harvard, tall, rangy, fast and very strong. Both men are wicked but clean tacklers, experienced to a point where it is absolutely impossible to fool them, and next to impossible to box them; they cannot be put out of the play. Both combined a remark able ability to follow the opposing ends on kicks, and after the neutral Buy Froth !!! z ne had been passed, to spill the r opponents before or after the catch had been made. In receiving the forward pass both were adepts. Hardly a game was played by State that Piollet did not receive the ball on this play, while Kilpatrick won the game for Yale against Princeton by his consummate skill in receiving the ball on a forward pass. Both men rounded out their careers as
