The Class Hats has reached a point when it is advisable to have it thoroughly sifted out, and ascertain whether it is really for the best interests of the college to continue it. The most recent grievance, has been the selection by the sophomore class bearing the Penn State symbol "S" which is denied to all who have not earned it, by competition in athletics. It is the custom in the majority of the larger institutions to permit the wearing of numerals on class hats by those who have won them in class contests, but in but few cases is the college letter worn by any but those who have won it.

Whether the "S" used is the particular form of varsity letter, it is the symbol of the institution and the varsity men are belittled when it is open to the student body.

A good solution of this problem is to adopt a uniform upperclass hat of Penn State blue, and allow the class athletics to have white numerals on it. Other suggestions may be similarly good, but the main point is that the matter needs immediate attention and should be discussed until a fitting agreement has been made.

Musical Clubs Tomorrow night in Concert the Auditorium the combined musical clubs will hold their first concert and it is to be hoped that the attendance will be sufficiently large to compensate for the untiring efforts of the organizations. Some time ago, the student body pledged staunch support to the movement and it will be necessary to entirely fill the Auditorium to defray the expenses under which the clubs have been placed.

The concert will be complete in every detail, the program having been especially arranged to meet with local approval, and it will undoubtedly please the most exacting.

If you were one of those who voted in mass meeting to attend this function, do not fail to fulfill your promise and journey to the Auditorium tomorrow night to hear one of the best entertainments ever planned at Penn State.

Groff The importance of "Daddy Day" Groff Day is much emphasized this year by the fact that the Chinese Ambassador to the United States is to be the Commencement orator, and will, of course, be greatly interested in everything which "State" does for China.

The best service which we can render China at this moment is to observe Groff Day with tremendous enthusiasm and with huge success.

The Auditorium should be overflowed, as this is peculiarly for "State" men, let every man be on hand promptly, so as to secure a seat.

A Medical College to Which Philadelphians Point With Pride.

The city of Philadelphia has long been famous for its medical colleges and high among these institutions is the Medico-Chirurgical College. This college has had a wonderful growth, "probably without a parallel in the history of medical schools." Today it offers unusual opportunities for students to prepare themselves in Medicine, Pharmacy, Dentistry and Pharmaceutical Chemistry. The college is most advantageously located. It is centrally situated and near a large manufacturing district, where the hospital cases are extensive and varied in character, and afford unsurpassed clinical facilities. The clinical amphitheatre is the largest and finest in the world. The hospital is well equipped and modern in every respect. There are fourteen laboratories so arranged that abundant individual work is assured each student.

In each of the four departments degrees are granted at the end of carefully graded courses. Every student has the advantage of practical instruction, free quizzes, limited ward classes, modern seminar methods and clinical conferences.

The faculty consists of a staff of instructors of pronounced ability and reputation for the most modern methods.

The dean of each department will furnish information to anyone desiring it.

Groff Lay Exercises.

Flags from every country will help us next Sunday to center our thought upon vast empires of the East whose problems are so interesting and complex that they are loudly calling to the world for solution. When one cent a day will keep a starving Chinaman in food and we realize that one million Chinamen will die this year from starvation we gain some idea of the value of our work in China. We endeavor through our representative, Mr. Groff, to enrich the worn out soil of China and make it fertile, thus preventing the famines which entail sad havoc-untold misery and endless deaths. We cannot remain indifferent when countless numbers go to bed mighty hungry and starving. The agricultural missionary can help to solve this problem. Not one man, but a school of agriculture is needed (as the University of the Pennsylvania is supporting the medical school) to carry on this humane work. Surely we shall unloose all prejudice and previous misconceptions and to a man support so worthy, needy, and comprehensive a work. A committee of students will have charge of the exercises of the day.

General Beaver at Sunday Chapel.

The old reliable and ever welcome General Beaver will be at chapel on Sunday morning. This is the first time that he will speak to the students since his return from the World's Missionary Conference at Edinburgh. While in attendance at this Conference he received the degree of L. L. D. from the University of Edinburgh.

General Beaver with Mr. Cochran will address group meetings during the day and speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the Auditorium at an open meeting in the evening at 6.30.
