Chapel The generosity of the Flowers. department of Horticulture in supplying fresh cut flowers for the chapel pulpit has been commented upon very bighly by many who have noticed the massive churches were admirathe addition. The department has taken an interest in the general appearance and improvement of the college campus. The starting of the custom above mentioned adds greatly to the attractiveness of the room, giving it a fresh and pleasing aspect. It removes all traces of a monotonous surrounding and lends grace and dignity to the occasion.

The Forestry The recent issue of Annual. the "Penn State Farmer" devoted to forestry subjects, and known as the one of the old stories connected "Forestry Annual" is an excellent with them. With a number of exnumber. It contains many articles of interest and value, not only to men of our College, but to Foresters thoughout the country. The men of the "Farmer" Board, and the Forestry students and outside contributors have produced a magazine which, in its field, is well up to the standard of the other issues of the "Penn State Farmer".

Cook-Mitchell.

Miss Beulah Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Y. Mitchell of Washington Street, and Mr. Walter A. Cook of State College, Penna., were married at the home of the bride's parents, Friday, April 14.

Germany Illustrated. Last Ihursday evening Professor C. D Fehr gave a very interesting lecture on Germany, which was il lustrated by a series of excellent views, collected by him during his recent tup abroad. Among other interesting facts Professor Fehr dwelt upon a part of the early traditional history, and upon some of the present customs of the Germans. The system prevailing in nearly all German institutions, which prove to be of great advantage to the traveler, received lue emphasis Heidelberg, was pictured and described, with its old castle, connected with a multitude of traditions. The winding Rhine with its many castles, the city of Bingen with its famous Mouse Tower, and the Lorelei promontory were all shown, and a very interesting account given of the various traditions connected with them. Views were presented of the city of Saint Gall, and of the old Drachenfels castle, the vicinity of which had b, en a stage for the careers of Siegfried and Roland.

In connection with Bremery and Hildesheim, some of the architectural features were pointed out. The old town hall, the queer houses, and bly illustrated and detailed accounts given of each. The impressive cathedral of Cologne was described in connection with a series of church pictures.

The Spieewald and the Black-Forest were depicted in contrast to the larger cities. In Potsdam the old palace, Sans Souci, the palace of Frederick the Great, and the palace of the present emperor were pictured and described, and the historical episodes related. The old castle of Nuremberg, and the world famous Wartburg, a place of refuge at one time for Luther reminded cellent pictures and descriptions, especially the Strasburg dome, Professor Fehr, after having briefly discussed the general atmosphere, the old traditions, the architecture, the natural beauty, and the general history, concluded his lecture, which had been of extreme interest to all present. It is only to be regretted that the whole college did not take the advantage of attending it to increase its knowledge of Germany as a whole.

State Defeats Cettysburg at Tennis. While the varsity track team was engaged in a dual track meet with Swarthmore on New Beaver Field last Saturday, the varsity tennis team was defeating Gettysburg on 'the court, west of the Aimory. In field and Baughman were evenly matched, and it was necessary for them to play extra games in both of their sets to decide who was the winner. The match was poorly attended and it is hoped that the student body will give the team better support at its next home match, which will be held with the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, May 27. The scores: Singles. Lloyd, State, won from Diehl, Gettysburg, 6-3, 6-1. Baughman, Gettysburg, won from Canfield, St. te, 7-5, 8-6.
