sport in the playground movement, the Grammar schools, the High schools, and the preparatory schools of our country. In this way we could so influence the minds of our young men that by the time they are prepared to enter college they have a good, wholesome view of athletics, and will not sell themselves to the highest bidder. To me, this is the only solution to work out this perplexing problem."

Forestry Notes.

Detweiler, executive officer of the Chestnut Blight commission will have his assistant in the blight work here for a series of lectures on Forestry and Plant Pathology. Prof. Fulton will give several days of work with the microscope in determining common plant diseases. All work will be given in the Forestry Building.

Mr. George H. Wirt, formerly in charge of the Forest Academy at Mont Alto, and Mr. Walter Ludwig, the state forester located at Boalsburg, have been assigned here during these meetings to give a series of talks for forestry students and the blight scouts on the forest policy of the state and the work on state reserves.

Track House Benefit a Success.

Large crowds turned out to witness both matinees and the four evening performances last Saturday at the Pastime so as to add their little mite to the Track House Benefit Fund. An additional evening performance was necessary to accommodate all those who were enthusiastic about seeing the excellent reels, the pleasing features and to help swell the proceeds. Those who carried out the details of the show and those who aided to make the day a success by offering their services in the way of special features deserve thanks and valuable mention.

A handsome sum was raised and from this fund furnishings will be bought to improve the interior of the Track House. A detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures in connection with the performances will be published next week in these columns.

A New Dance.

The Officers Club, consisting of fifty-one commissioned officers of the cadet regiment, will establish a Military Hop as an annual social function at Penn State on the night of February 10, at McAllister Hall. With all the members present in full uniform, with both military and popular music, with refreshments at Captain Fry's residence, and with appropriate decorations, this promises to be a most unique affair from the time of assembly at eight o'clock until the sounding of taps at twelve.
