

INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATE.

Penn State vs. Franklin and Marshall on Friday, March 1, at 8 P. M. in the Auditorium.

The question to be debated upon by the Inter-Collegiate League this year is, Resolved, that the United States is justified in fortifying the Panama Canal. Concerned with this live and bristling topic of the day, our college team, is to set forth its ingenuity and arguments against those propounded by the F. and M. representatives. Let us hope that the balance will be weighted more heavily on our side.

The affirmative team that will debate F. and M. at Lancaster will be composed of: E. S. Ross, H. B. Cranston, J. A. Kinney, W. H. Bullock, alternate.

The negative team will be composed of: Miles Horst, H. W. Nichols, S. S. Levisse, W. D. Meikle alternate.

Both the negative and the affirmative debate with F. and M. will be carried on under the inter-collegiate rules. We won from F. and M. at Lancaster in 1901, score 2-1. The debates occur simultaneously on Mar. 2, the Swarthmore teams being pitted against those of Dickinson.

WE WONDER

What the audience at the Y. M. C. A. show will be next year.

If whistling is the best way to show appreciation at amateur shows.

If we did not enjoy that whole holiday.

If that was not a wicked wind which blew last Thursday.

If it was not great to have skating right on our Campus.

If that was not some corking big crowd at the wrestling meet on Saturday.

If we really did create a good impression upon our visitors.

Who dug up the hatchet.

Why a McAllister Hall dance was not attempted before.

If, too, this dance should not be made an annual affair.

Why more of us did not attend the memorial service to Dr. Gill on Sunday.

If Penn State will ever own decent side walks.

Whether the annual freshman class gymnasium exhibition on March 30 will be as successful as last year's event.

Why more of us are not taking advantage of the Indoor School Athletic Contest as arranged by Director Lewis.

If the studes should not refrain from expectorating on the Armory floor.

How much longer the hall of the Engineering Building will be blockaded by Flour Milling machinery.

Landscape Gardening Notes.

At the last meeting of the Gardening Society, Mr. E. J. Reeves '13 gave a very interesting talk of his summer's experiences in the Buffalo Park System.

The Juniors taking Landscape Gardening in company with Prof. Gregg, will spend ten days at Easter studying ornamental trees shrubs and herbaceous perennials in the large Andorra Nurseries at Chestnut Hill, Pa. These nurseries owned by Mr. Wm. Warren Harper contain over three hundred acres of ornamentals, raised and handled especially for the finest landscape work. Opportunity will also be afforded to study some of the large private estates in the vicinity.

Mr. Lehman '13 is working on plans for the embellishment of the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania R. R. in the vicinity of Altoona.
