EDITORIAL.

This issue being the first one under the management of the new staff, we must confess that it is with a realization of the duties and responsibilities that we assume control of the college weekly. Under excellent management, the Penn State Collegian has made progress in the past and it will be the earnest endeavor of the present board to better the publication, condense and increase the real news of the college, and in editorials to consider by discussions some of the many student problems of Penn State.

The new board wishes to offer praise and congratulations to the retiring Editor in Chief, W. S. Kriebel, '12 and Assistant Editor, W. P. Little, '12. They have performed their duties well, and, above all things else, have wolked at all State.

The primary aim of the Penn State Collegian is to be a newspaper and not a literary publication. It is published in the interests of the faculty, the alumni and the student body. While it will not be the object of the new editors to find fault indiscriminately, we believe the best the truth in regards to it.

Finally, we need your co-operation in the work. The new board is not ignorant of the fact that it does not know everything about publishing a paper, and at all times suggestions from persons who have the best interests of the college at heart will be welcomed. Nor can we always discover the happenings and events in our little community. If you know an interesting bit of news, send it in. By the proper spirit of using lime or graphite in the anco operation we hope to be able to accomplish the best results during the next year.

Will You Help?

In order to awaken to our faults in the minds of our readers, the editorial staff, during the next two weeks, is especially anxious to receive from every student in college, every member of the faculty, and any alumnus, a letter stating criticisms and suggestions along any lines that will benefit the Penn State Collegian.

Any member of the editorial staff will receive these letters. It is to be hoped that you will not let us remain in ignorance of our shortcomings, when by correcting them, the board may become more effi-

New Men.

Last week a call for new editorial candidates was made. One sophomore and two freshmen will be selected. The benefits of a berth on your college paper are many. In addition to the act of doing something for your Alma Mater, a few years of collegiate work will do wonders toward expressing ideas to be grasped by others, will serve, as few other activities do, to increase mingling with fellow students, and forms the habit of observance. The election of new editors from the lower two classes will be held in three weeks. If you wish to compete, hand your name to the editor. Of the new men who have written articles so far all, with exception of two, are fraternity men. While the spirit of the upperclassmen in fraternities in encouraging new men to work for a place on the weekly is appreciated, can not upperclassmen in Main Building and McAllister Hall induce underclassmen to compete for similar positions? The Penn State Collegian is open to every man in college.

The Wrong A few students possibly twelve or fifteen, displayed the wrong kind of spirit toward our varsity baseball team upon its return from the South last week. Manager Devor, just previous to his leaving town, engaged a bus to transport if you want employment and can the players from Lemont to College afford to prepare for a paying poupon their return from the Southern trip. Upon the arrival of the train School with no other preparation for at Lemont, a handful of students students students students. at Lemont, a handful of students quickly crowded into the reserved times for the best interests of Penn omnibus and when politely asked by the driver and baseball management to desert the vehicle, vulgar remarks were passed and the men remained in their seats. The men were transported to State College while the members of the team, tired from their over night journey.

Fellows, our athletes neither ask way in righting a wrong is to state nor want special privileges and to have given over the bus to them would not have been a sacrifice. It was their right to occupy the bus as it had been engaged for them since March 30. We hope the men directly interested in this affair will Clement C. Gaines, M.A., L.L.D. Box C. C., Poughkeepsie, N. Y. realize that an over abundance of nicety was not shown.

In the joint class meeting, Wednesday March 27, the following motion was passed: "That sophomore classes be prohibited from nual flag scrap."

Everybody laughs in the Auditorium this Saturday night.

Do Fertilizers Pay?

ties` spend considerable public money in printing contradictory statements on this point.

Great fortunes have been made in manufacturing fertilizers. They evidently pay the makers. Farmers continue to increase their fertilizer chases, indicating that they are profitable to

But are the kinds which the manufacturers prefer to sell the most profitable to the farmer? Do they give the greatest profit consistent with maintaining the productiveness of the soil? Or do they merely supply the element most needed at the moment and reduce the available supply of the other elements?

The average fertilizer contains 4 times as much phosphoric acid as Potash. The average crop takes from the soil 3 times as much Potash as phosphoric acid. You can guess the answer. Use more Potash, for
