A Good Opening.

The following letter has been received by R. H. Smith, Graduate Manager of Athletics, from the South Dakota State School of Mines. If any Penn State man be interested, he can call at the Graduate Manager's office for further information.

Athletic Director, Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa.

Dear Sir: I write to inquire if you know of any worthy student in your institution who is a capable man in athletics but who has a desire to continue his education in a western mining school. We desire the services of a competent man in training our students in athletics, particularly football, but we have insufficient means to pay more than a nominal sum for this work. Heretofore we have paid $200.00 for the football season, the man during the training being engaged in some other employment. Occasionally we have been able to secure some good student who could combine his studies with the athletic work and thus help to pay his school expenses. It is possible that we might be able to pay more than the $200.00 but we will have to depend upon the conditions and the nature of the work.

Yours truly,
C. C. O'Harra, President.

College Boys, Attention!

Young men often say to me, "What good will a life insurance policy do me if I die?" Bless your heart, tell me of anything that will do you any good if you die. But it will do others good. It will help to reimburse that mother or father, if you die, who scratched and saved to put you through college. And if you live and keep up the payments to maturity, I can tell you of policies that will not only protect those you love or to whom you may be indebted for funds to complete your course, but will pay you back personally at maturity all you put in or more. Do you know that after you have paid one full annual premium in my company, should you become totally and permanently disabled and unable to earn money, your policy will become a fully paid policy for the face of it? The latest wrinkle in life insurance. Let me tell you about this—also many other things that will surely interest you—and make you money.

Sophomore-Freshman Track Meet.

A dual track meet between the sophomores and the freshmen has been arranged for April 20. It will be held on New Beaver Field at 2 p. m. and, as it partakes of the nature of a class scrap, promises to be hard fought throughout. An admission fee of fifteen cents will be charged.

Forty-three candidates for the freshman team have reported and are being trained by Ed. Lewis. Manager Hancock has arranged the following schedule:

April 10, Harrisburg H. S., at Harrisburg; April 20, 1914, New Beaver Field; May 4, Lock Haven S. N. S., at Lock Haven (pending.)

This schedule will be completed in ample time to allow the men developed to be used by the varsity. The sophomores decided that a class team was unnecessary and that the men who are trying for the varsity squad should meet the freshmen. Thus far about twenty-five sophomores have reported for work. Each class has several men whose work promises to secure varsity berths for them.

The "Cathedrals of Germany" includes a brief history of the architectural development of the cathedrals from ancient times. The lecture, which is illustrated, will be of special interest to engineering students and lovers of architecture. It will be given under auspices of the Deutscher Verein, Friday 8 o'clock, in the Auditorium.
