The New Every year at Bulletin Board. Penn State there are numerous examples of men sacrificing their spare moments in order to make conditions better for their classmates or for those who are to follow. The proposed new bulletin board is a good idea. The detailed arrangements have all been made by a member of the class of 1912. In place of having our halls littered with scraps of paper that are unsightly and of little value to either the person placing the notice or to the possible readers, the new plan provides for a systematic and condensed form of information. By the use of the various divisions, persons desiring to know something of one particular nature can easily do so by going at once to that part of the board; and thus save the necessity of looking at all the other various announcements when possibly the one they desire has been torn down by someone else or by the wind. Owing to the fact that financially the college is unable to aid in the many affairs that would better conditions in our midst, when an opportunity similar to the coming entertainment Saturday evening is given us, it is certainly worthy of the support of the whole student body.

New Business Candidates. All sophomores desiring to try for a place on the Business Staff of the Penn State Collegian can hand their names at once to M. M. Grubbs, '13, at the Alpha Kappa Delta House. The election will be held just previous to Commencement.

Loyalty to the Team. In football season the varsity games are always well attended and there are few people who attend these games that do not come with the firm intention of seeing the whole contest. However in baseball season, in years past, the cheerleader has often had to ask a few fellows not to desert the team at the last inning. In both the Carnegie Tech and the Susquehanna games the support given by the student body has been good. Nearly every person stayed until the last man was out in the last inning. Our college spirit has always been very loyal to our athletes, but if halt the spectators leave just before the close of the games on New Beaver Field, surely no greater wrong could be done.

Cheering is a large factor in winning games. The early departure is just as noticeable when our team is ahead by a few scores, as it is when we are behind. A very large percentage of our baseball games have been won or lost in the last few innings.

New Assistant Editor. At the meeting of the Penn State Collegian Board, April 17, M. A. Krimmel, '13, was elected Assistant Editor.

Letters to the Editorial Staff. Last week it was stated in the columns of this paper that the Editorial Staff of the college weekly was always ready for criticisms and suggestions. It was stated that a letter from every man in college, who saw a serious mistake on our part, was particularly desired within the next two weeks. Thus far we have received a few letters with some excellent ideas in them and we desire to thank the writers for their trouble in answering the plea.

Third Summer Session for Teachers. The bulletin for the third summer session for teachers of The Pennsylvania State College has been issued recently. The session will begin June 24 and end August 2.

The faculty has been considerably enlarged over those of the two preceding sessions. New courses have been added in Agriculture, Domestic Science, English, German, Greek, History, Italian, Manual Training, Mathematics, Nature Study, Public School Drawing, Public School Music, Psychology, and Spanish.

Any person holding a certificate to teach in the common schools, issued by the State of Pennsylvania, or any person engaged in teaching within the state, will be admitted to classes without examination and without tuition, except the payment of a registration fee of five dollars which secures admission to all general lectures and entertainments and permits the use of the libraries. The fixed college laboratory fee will also be charged for all students taking courses in which laboratory practice is included. The fee varies according to the amount of material used.

Persons not holding certificates and not teaching in Pennsylvania must be at least eighteen years of age, must declare intention to teach, and must satisfy the Director of the Summer Session that they are qualified to take the work they select. They will be required to pay a tuition fee of $20 for the six weeks in addition to registration fee and laboratory fees. No regular student of The Pennsylvania State College will be permitted to register for credit in his or her college course.

Certificates of credit are given to all who complete the work of the session satisfactorily. Persons who are not college graduates may obtain college credit by satisfying the entrance requirements for the freshman class and matriculating in due form. Under specified conditions, work done in the Summer Session may be continued by correspondence and additional credits obtained.

Practically all the pedagogical and advanced subjects required for a Permanent State Certificate are offered in the Summer Session. College graduates holding provisional college certificates may take the work in professional subjects counting toward the two hundred hours of pedagogical work required by the School Code for a provisional or permanent college certificate. of the examinations for Permanent State Certificates will be held at Williamsport the first Thursday and Friday of August. Students in attendance at the Summer Session may avail themselves of this opportunity to take such examination.

In addition to the instruction given by regular teachers in the Summer Session a number of special lectures and entertainments will be offered. Among those who will speak on educational topics are: Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. George M. Philips, West Chester, Pa., member of the State Board of Education; Mr. Charles A. Lose, Superintendent of Schools, Williamsport, Pa.

Other lectures to be delivered are: "The Silver Crown," Dr. Russell H. Conwell; "From Peking to the Great Wall," Dr. Frederick Poole; and "Abnormal Children," Dr. Edwin B. Twitmyer, of the Psychological Clinic of the University of Pennsylvania.

Regulations Concerning Dormitories. Rent for rooms in the men's dormitories varies according to building and location from $35 to $50 for each of two occupants of a room during the academic year of thirty-six weeks. This charge includes heat and light. All rooms are rented unfurnished, but furniture may be purchased in the village at reasonable prices. The college reserves the right to require a dormitory room, whether rented or scholarship, to be vacated at any time for cause; in which case, a proportionate rebate of the sum paid will be given. No rebate is made for a room voluntarily vacated unless a substitute tenant is found.

Rent for rooms in the woman's dormitories is $50 for each of two occupants in a room during the academic year of thirty-six weeks. This charge includes heat and light. Each room contains a bedstead, mattress and pillows, chiffonier, washstand, table and chairs. Other furnishings depend upon the taste and fancy of the student.

Season tickets for the 1912 baseball season are on sale by the Assistant Managers, R. F. Bigham, Delta Upsilon; G. E. Vosburg, Phi Sigma Kappa; and T. V. Keefe, Alpha Zeta. The price is $2.50.
