

AN ALL STAR CAST

The College Boy's Wedding to be Given Day of Graduation—Good Matinee Promised.

"The College Boy's Wedding," the brilliant Y. M. C. A. production which achieved such a distinct hit upon its initial presentation, will be repeated for Commencement Matinee Wednesday, June 12, at 2 p. m., following the graduation in the Auditorium.

In the vernacular of New York along "The Great White Way," the Y. M. C. A. this year certainly "Put one over." The play and its finished production proved a constant delight. Dramatic Director G. Stuart Brodock has developed from the first cast several hitherto unsuspected dramatic geniuses, whose work placed them at once among the stars of the college world. Particularly will Professor John S. Crandell, Mrs. Frank D. Gardner, Paul I. Moyer, Frank G. Ashbrook, and Miss Margaret Lawings, in character work, and Fred M. Selkregg, Gordon, J. F. Heron, and Harold T. Swisher, as breezy light comedians, twinkle at the Commencement matinee.

Just to prove that the Y. M. C. A. of Penn State College is the "Last word" in things dramatic, Director Brodock has arranged an "All Star Cast" for The College Boy's Wedding. It is composed of imported stars, besides the former cast mentioned, and several of last year's "College Widow" principals.

Mrs. Benjamin Dreifus, long conceded the cleverest of the leading society women of Altoona, will repeat her charming portrayal of "Ruth." Mrs. Grace F. McMurtree, who is inimitable in character roles, will appear as the stately "Mrs. Ralston," also doubling the dashing chaperon role, "Miss Waterson." The leading juvenile part, "Frank Ralston," the "College boy," will be played by a professional actor, Mr. Arthur Deering, now a student of Penn State. Mr. Deering was associated two years in leading roles with Miss May Robson, in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," which engagement included a two months run in London, England. The hit of last spring, the "College Widow," was S. F. Miles, who has the role of "Professor Tickle Pitcher," the comedian of the "College Boy's Wedding," in which he is inimitable. Another change is Oliver J. Vogel, who in the present cast doubles with "Zeke."

Catchy new songs will be produced by Professor Crandell, Mr. Miles, Mr. James A. Leyden, and his quartet composed of James Kiester, Alex Gray and L. Keyser.

The student body is advised to secure seats early and assure "a tonic of real joy" for their guests, as every indication points to a capacity matinee.

Varsity Tennis.

The record of the Varsity tennis team for the past season of two matches won and three lost is one which carries with it credit. From the opening of the season, bad weather conditions have rendered it practically impossible for the players to get sufficient practice to show their best form, and it is mainly due to this cause, in addition to having as opponents in the first three matches teams of first-class ability, that we were unable to make a better showing. Penn State defeated Dickinson and Gettysburg, and lost to Penn and Pitt, twice.

IMPROVEMENTS ON CAMPUS.

Several New Buildings Will in the Future Relieve Crowded Conditions.

The first of a series of four buildings to be erected to relieve the crowded conditions in the Engineering Building will be completed and ready for occupancy by September first. The building will be occupied for the present by the hydro-electric furnaces and the cement laboratories.

The new structures are to be placed between the present Thermal Laboratory and the Engineering Building, the other three being similar in size and shape to the one under construction. The buildings will be three stories high and will contain ample space for recitation, drawing and laboratory rooms.

ANOTHER BIG VICTORY

Varsity Track Team Overwhelmingly Defeats Dickinson—Two Local Records Broken.

On new Beaver Field, May 25, Penn State outclassed Dickinson in this year's first home dual track and field meet, winning by the one-sided score of 90½ to 21½. The home team secured first place in all the events with the exception of the 120-yard high and the 220-yard low hurdles, in which events Pier of State ran even with Rue of Dickinson. Maybee, who formerly held the Penn State pole vaulting record jointly with Hoskins, set a new local mark by clearing the bar at a height of 11 feet 6 inches. Piner lowered the Penn State 220-yard dash record by running the dis-

Eagles Mere.

Eagles Mere is a go. There will be at least a hundred and twenty-five Penn State men at Eagles Mere, and justly so, as it appeals to every type of college man, if he is a member of the Association or not.

First; It appeals to the man who demands a good time, because no where else will he have the opportunity of meeting so many college men under such ideal circumstances. It is legitimate for any man to go in view of the fellows he will meet and the friendships he will make. Here you will have the opportunity of knowing the men intimately of whose athletic prowess you read in the big dailies.

Second; It will attract men who want to be under the guidance of real leaders of men. One of the

"THE COMMANDANT"

Thespian Commencement Production to be Better Than Ever on Tuesday Evening.

On Tuesday evening of Commencement week, at 8.15, in the Auditorium, the Thespians will again present this year's play, "The Commandant." The annual Easter trip of the company, taking in Lancaster, Harrisburg, Sunbury, Clearfield, DuBois, and Bellefonte, was the most successful one in years—the audiences made up in enthusiasm what they often lacked in numbers, and this year's production, by its worth, has more than ensured the success of future Thespian trips.

No one who saw the first appearance of "The Commandant" in State College needs to be urged to see the Commencement show. Since Easter the actors and actresses have been striving to perfect all details, and their efforts have been more than rewarded. Stage effects and costumes will be more gorgeous than ever at the grand masked ball, and at the Japanese "Feast of the Lanterns." The songs and dances which made such hits in earlier performances of "The Commandant" will be repeated. The "Manager's Finale," as given in Bellefonte by Christ, Skinner and Butterfield, is a feature alone worth the price of admission. And those queens!—gliding about the stage, in terpsichorean revelry—how they fascinate the susceptible male heart by their grace and beauty! But words fail us. Let it suffice to say, "Let no man deny himself the pleasure of seeing the very last great performance of "The Commandant."

The Graduate Manager.

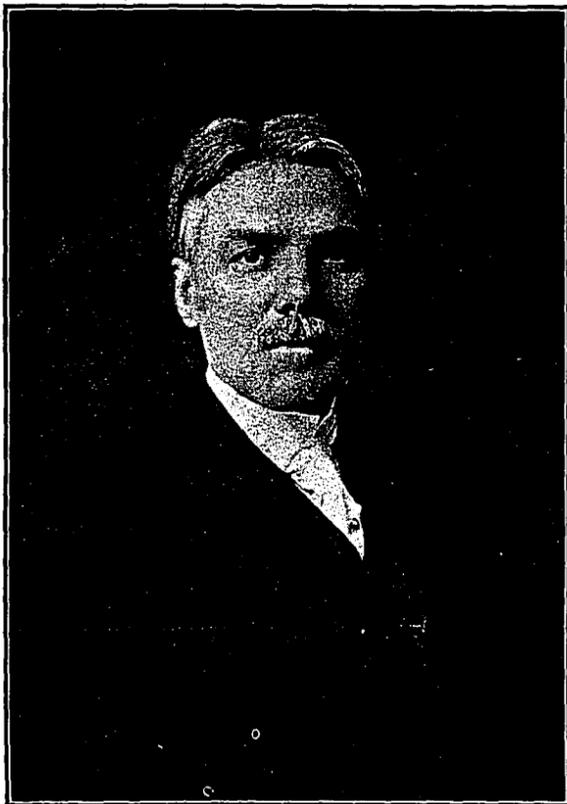

Mr. R. H. Smith, graduate manager of athletics at Penn State, has just completed a year's service at the head of our athletics. Mr. Smith has systematized and reorganized the work of handling the athletic relations with other colleges. In addition to the successful teams and the victories on the gridiron, diamond, track, floor and mat, Penn State has been fortunate in having an alumnus at the head of all these who has looked after details and arrangements with such business like ability.

Mr. Smith, in making out the football schedule for next fall, made a good selection in the Ohio State University game to be played in Columbus. This game will establish athletic relations with a neighboring state institution that is rapidly coming to the front along all lines.

In addition to looking after athletics, Mr. Smith has also carried out the work of Alumnus Secretary in a most satisfactory manner. Three Alumni Quarterlies have been issued and the fourth will be ready for distribution next month. New interest in the college has been created and through encouragement several alumni associations have been formed in different sections of the country. Congratulations are due to Mr. Smith for his success in this important work.

The Breaking Point.

In reviewing Professor Pattee's latest novel, "The Chicago Advance" says: "The book is the strongest bit of fiction of the spring season. Prof. Pattee has a style and way most convincing. He is not long drawn out and decidedly to the point. Between the first and last chapters we find a great story, a story that holds our attention with a grip of firmness, for the author knows life."

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn, Commencement Orator, June 12.

The three buildings yet to be started will be used by the Milling Department, as instrument and drawing rooms for the Civil Engineering Department and as testing laboratories for the Mechanical and Electrical Departments. These new structures are to be erected as soon as the necessary appropriations are granted by the State Legislature, and the entire group will probably be completed in six years.

These new units will do away with the confusion and inconvenience now experienced in the Engineering Building and will permit that the main building be used exclusively for recitation rooms. The new additions will necessitate the removal of the present temporary Thermal Laboratory, the Electrical Annex and the President's house, the latter building to be placed in the orchard near the Library.

The most important addition to the Agricultural group is the new Horticulture Building on Agricultural Hill. This building, for the present, will have a temporary roof, and class rooms will only be installed on the ground floor. When the remainder of the appropriation is granted, two additional stories will be added. The removal of the barn on the west side of the campus and the building of several other similar buildings are contemplated to relieve the cramped and congested conditions now found in the Agricultural group.

three greatest living men to-day, John R. Mott, will be at this conference. It is a fact worthy to know that this man is not a miner or an engineer, but is a Y. M. C. A. Secretary, Secretary of the World's Student Movement. Robert E. Speer, one of the three most brilliant men who ever graduated from Princeton, is another leader; not to speak of Dean Holmes, Cairns, who comes all the way from Scotland, and the score or more of student experts who will be there for interviews during the conference.

Third; It appeals to the man who wants training for religious leadership, a man who desires to increase his efficiency in work for other men, and in short the man who wants to be a human engineer, and become a dynamic in the lives of men.

The difficulty of a slim purse at this time of the year has been bridged by the receipts of "The College Boy's Wedding," which allows for a loan to any man who needs the money, giving his note as security.

Pole vault—Maybee, Penn State, first; Hoskins and Hays, Penn State, tied for second. Distance, 11 feet 6 inches.

Shot put—Lamb, Penn State, first; Felton, Dickinson, second. Distance, 40 feet 9 inches.

Hammer throw—Lamb, Penn State, first; Felton, Dickinson, second. Distance, 139 feet 1½ inches.
