

There's no way to describe the lively, smart styles of these new overcoats so that you'll get a really good idea of them. Even the best illustrations don't do the clothes full justice. You've simply got to see the goods if you want to "get a line" on them.

The Sim Store

has produced the best overcoat styles this season you have ever seen; unless you have a look at them you'll miss the smartest lot of stuff in the market; and we're sure you don't want to do that.

You can find plenty of good looking clothes everywhere; but there's more than looks in these. There's quality in them, fine fabrics, fine tailoring, fine finish. They're the clothes you want.

New styles for young men; new belt-back models; new colors and weaves.

ENGINEERING NOTES

The Mechanical Engineering Department has received from the O. S. Walker Co., Worcester, Mass., a "Quadruplex Carburetor" which is designed for using kerosene as well as gasoline. This carburetor will be tested and results will be compared with those obtained from tests made with other carburetors that the college possesses. Mr. E. N. Bates is designing an arrangement whereby the carburetor and manifold may be heated by exhaust gases, and a connection will supply heated air to the air intake. The design will make it possible to vary the temperatures to suit conditions.

Dean Jackson was recently elected Vice President of the Engineer's Society of Pennsylvania.

Mr. J. T. Gephart, State Highway Engineer, gave the first of a series of lectures before the Highway Engineering students, Friday, January 3rd.

Abstracts From Mr. Kelsey's Lecture

Mr. Albert Kelsey, F. A. I. A., delivered a lecture before the students of architecture, Dec. 17, on the subject of "Architecture and Landscape Accessories."

In the course of his remarks Mr. Kelsey dwelt upon the report of the Committee on Education delivered at the Annual Convention of the American Institute of Architects held in Washington last week. He said, it seemed to be the sense of that Committee that the Country is fast producing the necessary number of architectural schools and indeed that many have already attained to the very first rank, that therefore what now is needed, is to help the newer schools like State College to get their pace, and, if possible to induce them to specialize because Craftsmen are now needed more than Architects, further, that unless Craftsmen are given an education based upon principles of sound design, architecture throughout the land can not progress as rapidly as it should. Mr. Kelsey pointed out that the best cabinet work, metal work, art glass, furniture and fine embroidery for curtains, altar cloths, etc. is still imported from Europe, and that what is not imported is nearly invariably made by foreign workmen.

Mr. Kelsey's lecture was however mainly given up to a discussion of principles of landscape design, which he illustrated on the blackboard, and showed on the screen by means of lantern slides.

His next lecture will be entitled "The Reality of Fancy" and will have a direct application to existing physical conditions at State College. It will be profusely illustrated.

Bryan Crane, the sixteen year old student of Dr. D. V. Crane of Springfield, Mo., died yesterday at a hospital, of two knife wounds in the abdomen, inflicted after a hazing party at Morrisville College. Millard Copeland, a twenty six year old divinity student is under arrest charged with the stabbing. After the hazing of Copeland, he is said to have attacked Crane.
