THE VARSITY BASEBALL OUTLOOK

New Men Look Good—Indications Point to Good Team—Strong Nucleus Remains of Last Year's Team.

Present weather conditions indicate that the baseball team will be forced to leave for the Southern trip on the 18th without having had any preparatory outdoor practice. This fact makes the picking of the most likely candidates somewhat of a task for Captain Whitney and Coach Manning. Daily indoor practice, however, is enabling the coaches to make their selection and bringing out the fact at the same time, that the team will have a wealth of very good second string material for the coming season.

In the pitching department the old reliables, Whitney and Wardwell, will doubtless do the major part. Among the most promising aspirants for this position are Seidel, Craig, Cope, Hasselbach and Bauman.

Hendersop is naturally first choice behind the bat with Vogt and Graham good second choice men; Unger is also showing up well in practice.

The infield is beyond doubt the most difficult problem that the coaches have to solve, as it will be composed entirely of new men. Bob Craig will probably come in from the outfield to play at short. Keller, W. Craig, Kern, Mason, McCracken and Hittner appear at present to be the most capable contenders for the remaining positions. Of these Kern and McCracken, last year's second string men, should make strong bids.

The outfield positions will be more easily settled as Crawford and McKibben remain from last year. The most promising man for the remaining berth is "Shorty" Miller. Dawson, Neagly and Kominarsky are also contenders for this place.

Five games will be played during their stay in the South. Washington and Lee (two games), University of North Carolina and A. and M. again appear on the southern schedule, Trinity being the new team added. Negotiations are being carried on to secure a game during Commencement week with the Chinese University team that last year toured the country playing various colleges and universities.

The success of last year's team was to a large extent due to the efficient work of Coach Manning, and Penn State has again been fortunate in securing his services this year. With Mr. Manning as coach and the material with which he has to work, we feel safe in predicting another successful season for our baseball team.

NEW COACH IN CHARGE

Of Track Candidates—Comes From U. of P. and Has Splendid Record. Schedule of Meets.

C. W. Martin, formerly assistant coach of track activities at the University of Pennsylvania, has now assumed control of all track and field candidates at Penn State. Coach Martin is an athlete of marked ability. He holds the World's record for 125 yards (11 4-5 seconds) and has equalled the World's record for 60 yards; he was a member of football, baseball and basketball varsity teams at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Washington, and acted as coach to the football team of the University of Carolina during the season of 1912-13.

The schedule of varsity meets follows:

April 26th, Penn Relays at Philadelphia.

May 3rd, Interscholastic Penna. Track meet and Intercollegiate Relay, at Penn State.

May 10th, University of Virginia at Penn State.

May 17th, Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.

May 24th, Pennsylvania Collegiate at Harrisburg.

May 31st, Intercollegiate at Harvard.

June 9th, Carnegie Tech at Penn State.

If conditions are favorable, a four-mile relay team, in addition to the one-mile relay team, will be entered at the Penn Relays on April 26th.

At the end of this week there will be a list of the names of men posted who will be excused from drill. This means that YOU should report at once.

BINDER IS CAPTAIN-ELECT.

Fast Varsity Forward Honored With Basketball Captaincy. Choice is a Popular One.

William G. Binder '14, of Rochester, New York, was on Monday afternoon unanimously elected to captain the Penn State varsity basketball team for the collegiate year 1913-14. Binder was the popular choice of his fellow players and the student body.

The basketball career of the mid-get forward is interesting. He learned the game in Philadelphia and later played for his school team in Rochester. Upon his entrance to Penn State he became a member of the freshman team and played so brilliantly that at the end of the winter he was elected class captain for the ensuing year. He successfully captained his team last year to the league championship. All the class guards found him a troublesome forward and he led the league in point scoring. As a member of the varsity team this year, Binder has proved himself worthy of the honor he has just received.

The following nominations for Y. M. C. A. officers have occurred, and the election will take place next Sunday night: President, C. A. Keyser and L. P. Lindsay; 1st Vice President, R. F. Lincoln and J. D. McVean; 2nd Vice President, P. E. Rheinhardt and J. H. Watson; Secretary, W. Hutt and W. S. Parkinson; Treasurer, C. S. Adams and H. V. Cranston; three Assistant Treasurers, W. H. Hile, H. T. Hill, F. K. Hoehler, S. P. Jones, W. R. Skillman and J. T. Wheeler.

THE YANKEE BRIGANDS

Sensationalism Personified in Coming Thespian Show—The Best of College Talent at Auditorium Next Friday.

Never in the history of the Penn State Thespians have they had such a collection of daintily beautiful chorus "girls". They are the pick of over one hundred and twenty-five who were tried out, and were selected for their comeliness, dancing, singing and nerve. While some of the voices are bass and others are tenor, this only adds piquancy to the general ensemble. The chorus men who have been in former Thespian shows declare that they never saw a more delightful aggregation of loveliness. Walter W. Whetstone, la premiere danseuse, will make Genee look to her laurels when he pirouettes in the Pas Seul written expressly for him, while Edward F. James as a Grecian "brigandess" will make Lillian Russel envious. Equally charming in their fashion are the other chorus maidens and they will dance and sing their way into the hearts of their audiences wherever they go. Their costumes are bizarre and exotic in the extreme, fabrics rare and startling blending in a tumultuous display. The chorus men dressed in becoming Grecian apparel, form a picturesque background against which the girls stand out in their pristine glory.

The songs are snappy and filled with life and vim. "Hire a Guide", "Have You Ever Been in Love", "Dont", "A Lovely Widow", "I Love You the Whole Year Round," and "I'm Proposing" are songs that are sure to make a "hit". "Hold 'Em State" to be sung by Jack will beyond any doubt receive loud applause:—

Hold 'Em State.

Grand stand, afternoon,
Hear the band playing a tune,
Girls in plenty everywhere,
Cheers and music fill the air.
Here they come, 'Varsity Boys.
Hear that cheer, Gee! What a noise.

There's the whistle, the ball's in play

Wonder what we'll score today.

Go on, Go on, Now hold em State.

Beat it Shorty, strike your gait,

There never was a mother's son

Could run the way that boy can run.

And when the score is forty two,

Just put the subs in for a few.

Penn State, Penn State

We have a team that is simply great.

Old Cornell; twenty nine, six,

U. of P., fourteen, nix.

Pittsburgh, thirty eight to zip.

Why do we take that Pittsburgh trip?

W. & J. faded away.

Villanova? Oh, well say,

Gettysburg by twenty-five,

Wonder if Carnegie Tech's alive.

(Words by Prof. J. S. Crandell.)

The last chance to buy tickets before the show will be given on Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the Co-op. See the Yankee Brigands, a musical comedy that will please all who attend. Curtain at 7:15 Friday March the 7th.

Interclass Game.

The annual interclass sophomore freshman basketball game will be played Wednesday, March 12. If a good crowd turns out, the manager's will be able to hand in balanced accounts.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY NEXT.

Final Home Meet on Saturday Evening—Special Attraction Will be Featured.

Indiana University of Bloomington, Indiana, will be the Blue and White's opponent in the last home wrestling meet of the season. Indiana comes with a good record, being a member of the Western Intercollegiate Conference, in which they had two champions last year. Only five weights will be wrestled but each one will be decided in the best out of three bouts with nine minute limits. The weights are 125, 140, 158, 175, and unlimited.

A special attraction will be added in a bout between "Kid" Batten, 130 pound champion of England, and "Billy" Neidig, the little wonder of the 1911 Penn State team. "Billy" is now coaching wrestling at Rutgers and will no doubt be in fine shape for a good fast bout. As for Batten, come out and see him work almost any night. Penn State hopes to have a clean slate this season but must work hard to do so. Come out and lend a hand.

Tickets at the Co-op Wednesday and Friday evenings. Admission 25 and 35 cents.

Dr. Isaac T. Headland.

In his sojourn at State College, during which time he addressed the students about three times, Dr. Headland, of the Peking University proved himself not only to be a close observer of human nature, but also an interesting and fascinating speaker.

On last Friday evening, in his talk on China, Mr. Headland told and explained many new features connected with the Chinese nation. He also laid much emphasis on mission work, and he presented this particular phase in his discussion in a most striking manner.

Dr. Headland also spoke on Sunday morning and evening, and at these two occasions he also paid particular attention to foreign mission work. He clearly explained the fact that China owed her slight advance in civilization to the encroachment of the Christian Religion.

CORNELL IS DEFEATED

Blue and White Matmen Win Great Victory. Bouts Are Hard Fought. Each Team Secures Two Falls.

When the Penn State Wrestling team left for Ithaca on Friday they had but one object in view. Namely, the defeat of Cornell. They accomplished their aim by winning decisively in one of the hardest fought meets of the season. The meet was hard fought because Cornell also wanted victory. Intercollegiate champions last year, and recently defeated by Lehigh, they fought desperately to maintain their receding record. But they could not down the Blue and White. They were defeated but not disgraced for the struggle was a worthy one.

Jones started the Penn State victory. On an attempt to secure a chancery, he was thrown to the mat by Tussinari. Jones at once assumed the aggressive and by using an arm roll soon landed on top, from where he secured a fall with a body hold and arm lock.

The Cornellians succeeded in evening up the score in the next bout. Brown assumed the aggressive and threw his man to the mat; after three minutes of work Boak pulled him under with a leg hold but the latter got up. When they hit the mat the second time Boak was on top and finally scored a fall by using a hammerlock and half nelson hold.

Fulkman won the next bout for Penn State. The men worked over six minutes from a stand, when by one of his characteristic whirling motions, Jack threw his man to the mat. Although not able to secure a fall he received the decision at the end of nine minutes.

Captain Shollenberger added the next point toward a Blue and White victory by putting up a hard bout against Culbertson, of Cornell. They hit the mat with the Cornellian on top from where he tried to secure the hammerlock. Coming to a stand in the break, they mixed things and our Captain landed on top, where he stayed until the end of 12 minutes when he received the decision.

Probably the hardest fought bout of the evening was that between Very and Ryder, in which Penn State was again returned a winner after 12 minutes of hard fast work. The Blue and White man used an arm lock to advantage and won a decision at the end of 12 minutes.

Cornell took the next bout when Captain Bame brought Sayre to the mat with a flying tackle and by using a hammerlock combined with wrist lock secured a fall.

Lamb in the heavyweight won the second fall of the evening for Penn State by means of a body hold.
