

WINS THE FIRST GAME

Penn State Defeats Red and Blue in First Game of La Crosse on New Beaver Field—Crowd Enthusiastic.

Penn State introduced La Crosse as a Varsity sport by winning the first game from the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday on New Beaver Field by a 4 to 3 score.

To say that the process of planting the germ which produces love of the sport in the veins of the sons of old Penn State was a success, is putting it mildly. Every mother's son immediately made the pledge to himself that he'd be at the next game. This fact practically assures the success of La Crosse at Penn State from a financial standpoint. From the players standpoint, we predict that interest is almost equally keen. There's no doubt that next year the squad will be much larger and that Penn State will soon be fighting for premier honors in La Crosse.

There's enough action in the game to suit the worst radical, and the conservative may try out for goal defender. The "bean ball" and "fade away" or "hook" slide in baseball, together with the "taking out from behind" in football are in many ways not at all superior to the good healthy swing of a La Crosse stick. The ability of the player to dodge is much more important (to himself) than is the same ability in football.

Saturday's game fully demonstrated that La Crosse demands a great deal of science or skill in the individual player, and that there is plenty of chance for the individual to star as well as for team work to make itself very evident. Fleetness of foot is another requisite. To sum up, the chance for serious accident is less than in football while there still remains enough action to satisfy the "noblest Roman of them all".

Although team play was not lacking, nevertheless, Penn State won because of the "pepper" and aggressiveness of her representatives. During the first period the ball was kept most of the time in Red and Blue territory and only the great defensive work of Parker saved Pennsylvania from a one sided score. The visitors reached Penn State territory but few times and on two of these occasions scored, the last goal being made after time had been called and failing to count. Wilson scored first for the locals after about ten minutes of hard play and Mehard tallied soon afterward. A little later Seaver made the only Red and Blue goal of the period.

In the second period Killgore scored for Penn, tying the score, but their chance was short lived, for Gallagher got one in the net and was soon followed by a beautiful shot by Farley. The visitors were closely covered during the rest of the game, and could score but one more goal, McCloud making a hard shot just a short time before the end of the period.

Johnston ably defended goal, Peters, Gill and Smith covered their men well, while the aggressive work of Munhall and Cuno helped much toward victory. Erhart and Olmstead played consistently, being replaced in the latter stages by Atkinson and Harrower, respectively. Erhart had to leave the game because of injuries sustained in a collision with Gill. Penn State's attack was especially strong. Mehard and Gallager were always in the thickest of the fray and displayed good stick work. Wilson and Farley proved to be the stars of the game. They were in every advance, their passing and receiving sure, accurate, and often brilliant. They showed the possibilities of La Crosse, due to experience.

For the visitors Parker was the individual star, receiving and staving off the brunt of the Blue and White attack. Husa was fast on his feet, the little centre getting away for long advances quite often. McCloud, Seaver and Killgore put up good games but were not fed enough by the work of their fellow players on defense. The line-up:

ENGINEERING NOTES

J. A. Moyer is preparing new editions of his books on Steam Turbines and Power Plant Testing. The revision of each book is to be very complete and thorough with the addition of considerable new material; so that the books will be thoroughly up to date. The new edition of Power Plant Testing will be issued about September first, and of Steam Turbines about November first.

Two new courses will be offered by the Mechanical Engineering Department next semester in Heat Engines, and Experimental Engineering for the Junior class in the department of Forestry.

Freshmen Win Debate.

The gladiators of the class of 1916 propounded a series of such strong and persuasive arguments the other evening, that they succeeded in overwhelming the sophomores to the tune of 3-0.

Although the debate was more hotly contested this year, than in the previous year, it was probably just as one sided. The freshmen seemed to have chosen the most weighty arguments, and seemed to have put them forth in a concise and systematic manner. All credit due to 1916 for winning one more class scrap.

S. A. E. WINS INTER-FRATERNITY MEET

Seventeen Fraternities Competed in Initial Contest Berryman a Track Man of Note.

The first annual inter-fraternity track meet proved to be a decided success if one may judge from the interest shown by the large crowd in attendance and the keen rivalry shown between the contesting teams.

Practically every fraternity in town was represented by a team and in all events creditable marks were made. This was especially true in the 100 yd. dash, broad jump, 1-2 mi. run and hammer throw. Berryman of the Sigma Chi won the first two in 10.1 sec. and 20 ft. 6 inch. respectively. Engle a Delta U., man took the hammer throw with a heave of 127 ft. 6 inch. while Jackson for the Sigma Tau's won the 1-2 mi. in 2.08 min.

The athletes representing the S. A. E. won the meet scoring twenty seven points. Second place was held jointly between the Delta U. and Beta Theta Pi, each having amassed sixteen points. The toss-up was won by the Delta U. fraternity.

Berryman and Leyden tied in the honor for highest individual scorer. Each man had fifteen points to his credit. Jackson was third with ten points.

The number of "also rans" and "also jumped" was large but this served to make the contest more interesting to the spectators and at the same time furnished them excellent exercise.

On the whole the meet was carried through with commendable smoothness considering the large number of entrants and the newness of the occasion.

New Cigarette Law.

The new cigarette law which was recently passed by our legislature is now in effect. This bill provides that any person who shall furnish to any minor by gift, sale or otherwise any cigarette or cigarette paper, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than $100.

Although we are situated in a community in which the hand of the law is not very apparent, and in which it is not felt very often, this new statute may enhance the activities of the authorities. All freshmen and all other students under the age of 21 years are by this measure specifically prevented from buying cigarettes or from procuring them.

The statute also provides that any minor being in possession of a cigarette paper or cigarette, who shall refuse to tell where he got it shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $5 and to imprisonment not exceeding five days.

Take heed ye students, and be careful to whom, in your generous moments, ye pass out the dope weed. The countersign on the campus henceforth is, Are you twenty-one? If the answer is "Yes", a cigarette is forthcoming, and if the answer is "No", the poor minor will have to have recourse to Cubeb Cigarettes, and even then he is under suspicion.

Cornell Controversy.

Fraternities and class societies of Cornell have instituted a campaign against certain social clubs which exist at Ithaca. These clubs must have some detrimental features or the resolutions which have been passed would not have materialized. Nine fraternities came out in open and declared that they would not allow any of their members to join any societies defined as undesirable by the Senior societies and further said that present members should resign immediately. The Junior Honorary Society passed a resolution declaring that any sophomore who is a member of one of these clubs after a certain date shall be ineligible to membership in this society.

What the exact criticism to these clubs is, it is difficult to ascertain, but as such concerted action has ensued it is evident that some detrimental characteristics must have been prevalent. It is generally thought that this certain class of clubs will die a quick death.

Special.

Students, take two hours for recreation Friday afternoon, Decoration Day, and come up to see the soph-fresh track clash. Meet starts at 2 p. m. Admission 10 cents.

VICTORY AT PITTSBURG

Blue and White Romp Home an Easy Winner at Eighth Annual Track Meet Held by University of Pittsburgh.

Before 5,000 track followers Penn State easily won first honors at Schenly Oval, Pittsburg, on Saturday. The track was slow, but the Blue and White succeeded in lowering some records for the meet nevertheless. Penn State captured ten firsts out of a possible fifteen, against W. and J. Allegheny, Pitt, Westminster, and Geneva, who finished in the order named.

The Blue and White also scored five seconds, three thirds, and three fourths. The only event in which Penn State failed to place was the century. Piner won the 220 dash and quarter mile, making a new record in the latter of 51 1-5 seconds. Leyden won the half mile in 2:02 1-5, while Keyser made a new record in the two mile event of 10:13 4-5. Hammit won both the hurdles events, Armsby and Barron also adding Blue and White points in these events, Lamb made a new shot put record of 41 feet 3 inches.

He also won the hammer throw and took second in the discus, Elliot and Armsby tied for first in the high jump, Pickett tying for second place. Maybee scored second in the pole vault, Leyden's great finish won the mile relay for Penn State from Pitt, Barron, Erb' White, and Leyden composing the Blue and White quartette. Other point winners for the Blue and White were Captain Lum, Lewis, and White.

The totals were: Penn State 75 1-2, W. and J. 30, Allegheny 24, Pitt 20, Westminster 8, Geneva 4.

Armory Adornment.

Company H of Scafford and Blade, national military organization at Penn State, has taken charge of the mounting of two cannon, used in artillery practice at the college between the years 1870 and 1880. The cannon will be permanently mounted in concrete, with appropriate bronze tablets, and presented to the college before Commencement. They will be located in front of the armory.

Notice-Found!

There are a number of articles of gym apparel etc., also a watch at the Physical Director's office that were picked up in the locker room. A list of these articles and the names appearing on same will be posted on the Armory bulletin board at the back entrance. If you have lost anything consult this list.

A House bill appropriating five thousand dollars for two years for the extension of agriculture at Delaware College was recently passed by the Senate of that state.

At the present there seems to be excellent prospect of an international track meet in the Harvard Stadium, with the athletes of Oxford and Cambridge pitted against those of Yale and Harvard.

The 1914 La Vie will be on sale as early as June 1. This year's junior publication is full of new attractive features. Watch for it.
