SUMMER SESSION

Dr. Weber Conducts School With Increased Attendance.

564 teachers attended the Fourth Summer Session for Teachers during the six weeks beginning June 23 and ending August 13. 65 counties were represented. Every school in the college offered courses, given, for the most part, by the regular teaching staff.

This marked increase of attendance may be attributed to a number of causes. The enrollment is limited to teachers of the Commonwealth. No other institution in the country limits its Summer Session to teachers. The registration fee is only nominal, a payment of $5 admitting the student to all classes, lectures, library facilities, etc. The high quality of teaching done. Nearly all of the instruction is given by members of the regular faculty of the college. The location of the college and its attractive and beautiful environment offer an excellent opportunity to teachers to spend six weeks of every summer with pleasure as well as profit.

Teachers came here from all over the State to improve their efficiency. Some qualified to pass the examination for permanent certificate. Some were preparing to enter college. Others worked for credits counting toward a college degree.

Through the medium of the Summer Session—and the Correspondence Courses the equivalent of two years of college work may be done. In every session quite a number are college graduates who are taking courses counting toward the master's degree. Judging by the promising evidences of the past, one can safely predict that the Pennsylvania State College Summer Session for Teachers will soon become the largest summer session in the State and will continue to be conspicuous for the service it renders to the teachers of the Commonwealth.

Fifty-third Annual Commencement

The commencement exercises of the class of 1913 and the closing incidents of the college are now history, but it might be well to recall to mind some of those incidents which made this commencement even better than those of former years.

Pennsylvania State was especially honored by the presence of Major General Leonard Wood, U. S. A., who acted as reviewing officer of the Regiment of College Cadets. Another person of foreign distinction was our Commencement Day speaker, M. De La Rocca, Counsellor of the French Embassy, Washington, D. C., who delivered an interesting address on "Moderation".

Athletic events resulted in victory in every instance except one namely, our baseball game with the Chinese University of Hawaii, in which we were defeated by a very close score. Our musical organizations gave a pleasing entertainment and the Y. M. C. A.—Y. W. C. A. play "Cousin Kate" was well received.

In summing up, it may be said that the Commencement of the Class of 1913 was very much of a success and the College and student body are indebted to those who were responsible for its inception.

THE NEW TRIBUNAL.

Steps were taken last spring by the student body through the council to provide a long needed "court of appeal" for student affairs—hence the committee described on another page of this issue.

As the Collegian goes to press, notice is brought of an apparent misunderstanding caused by the wording of the resolution adopted. The new tribunal is given the power of interpreting college custom: in accordance with this power they have met, and have announced their interpretation, which is final, namely, "That indiscriminate hazing shall be abolished except on one night near the beginning of the college year, known as poster night, when freshmen may be made to do stunts, providing no bodily injury or indecency be done; also that no upper classman shall grant immunity to freshman on poster night.

Everyone should take particular pains to acquaint themselves with this decision, and to abide by it absolutely.

Large Enrollment of New Men.

The Registrar believes the 1917 class enrollment will exceed 625. The two year course has been closed with 165 in the first year. About thirty men with advanced standing complete the number of new men.

Coach Martin is anxious that all freshmen track candidates report for the trials, Saturday afternoon as posted. All events will be run and those showing sufficient ability will probably be excused from drill for fall practice.

Keyser '14, president of the association, Dorwart '16, freshman secretary, W. S. Hoffman '11, Mr. Timothy Hughes and Mr. F. N. D. Buchman were State's representatives at the training conference for association secretaries.
