stitute. Foety will no doubt soon be in shape again, when he'll be sure to get a chance to show what he can do. "Big" Clark of course will be the snapperback with Wood as his understudy.

Several other men have shown much advancement and with a little more experience should prove to be of material aid in filling varsity positions. Foremost among these is Dippe, a Sophomore who has shown wonderful power at hitting the line and speed in circling the ends. Clark has proven a strong man in the line, playing at guard as has Watson at centre, and Thomas, Douglas, Hartman, and Trainer at end. Underhill, Kolbus, and Bennett are backfield men of promise. All these men have shown that they lack only a little in experience of being first string men.

Judging from the way the varsity has lately been able to tear through the scrub line, circle the ends or gain with forward passes, there is no doubt as to the offensive strength of Big Bill's 1913 model machine. On defense they are equally strong, and when playing at their normal gait show an impregnable line and an alert secondary defense. As each day's practice comes to a close the Blue and White varsity has more the appearance of being an unbeatable eleven for the third successive year, an eleven fit to follow in the wake of the wonderful 1913 machine that demolished everything in its track.

Band and Orchestra Outlook Good.

George L. Sumner '14 the newly elected leader of both band and orchestra is contemplating a very successful year for both musical organizations. The band probably fares the best as a large number of last years men are still in school and have reported again this year. The quality of the new men has been exceptionally good and this has aided considerably in starting the year's work. The men seem to realize the importance of a good college band and more interest has been shown than in former years. The trips to both the Penn and Pitt games have almost been established as a custom and with these trips in view, competition for places has been very keen. Several Sunday evening concerts will be given as in former years and a new novelty will be tried, namely, a joint band and orchestra concert.

In connection with the military department a drum corps will be organized to participate in all dress parades. This is a splendid chance for new men to become members of the band and the same time be excused from drill. All men playing either clarinet, saxophone or flute are urged to come out as several vacancies occur in the reed section.

The outlook for the orchestra, while not so bright, is however, up to the standard of former years. Violinists are especially requested to come out and try for positions as several vacancies occur at present. As the orchestra is entirely self supporting, occasional stags will be given in the armory to defray necessary expenses such as new music etc. Also by communicating with the leader, the orchestra will be glad to furnish music for all occasions.

Band rehearsals are held every Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 6-45 and orchestra rehearsals are held on Friday evening at 6-45. All men having any previous experience whatever are urged to come out for both band and orchestra and help raise the standard of our musical organization.

week end made a good impression upon the students who heard him in his addresses throughout the day. He also supplied the inspiration for a very successful Bible study canvass, five hundred men being pledged for Bible study in Association and church classes. These men will be organized in classes at once, and the leadership of these classes will be largely in the hands of upperclassmen.

On Saturday evening at the Methodist church, seventy-five members of the faculty and students met with Dr. Richardson in conference. As a result of this meeting Dr. Richardson spoke upon the subject, "Jesus as A Group Leader."

Dr. Richardson spoke at the chapel exercises in the morning, and in the afternoon at three o'clock he met group leaders in a conference, at which he spoke in particular on planning a lesson. At four o'clock, representatives of most of the fraternities met, at which time the educative value of Bible study was discussed. As a result of his visit two fraternity classes have been started and five others are being formed as soon as teachers can be found for them.

In the evening a good crowd heard Dr. Richardson speak on the subject, "The Psychology of Pentecost". After this meeting a canvass of the town and dormitories was made with the results as given above.
