

PENN STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 10 NUMBER 18

STATE COLLEGE, PA., FEBRUARY 11, 1914

PRICE FIVE CENTS

EDDY CAMPAIGN ENDED

Great Results From Week of Effort—Powerful Speakers Present Among Body of 50.

Standing room only in the Auditorium for five nights; 530 men signing cards as desirous of leading more aggressive Christian lives; 10 men pledging themselves to service in the foreign mission fields, making a total of 22 for that purpose; and hundreds more taking advantage of the privilege to secure personal interviews with the various men available: these are some of the accomplishments of the great Y. M. C. A. campaign held in State College last week.

The names of the many fine Christian men who carried on the campaign, chief among whom was Dr. Sherwood Eddy, are familiar to all. Especially noteworthy was the Princeton delegation of seven men, who comprised the largest representation of undergraduates from any one institution, other colleges furnishing 18 men. Twenty-five more made up the 50 present during the week, while among those in attendance during part of the week were H. Walton Mitchell and Commissioner of Labor John Price Jackson. The entire group was made up of men especially fitted to bring before men the practical religious problems of the day, men whose success vouches for the principles for which they stand.

Meetings were planned to reach every man. At the great college meetings held in the Auditorium each night, the following subjects were dwelt upon: "Ambition", "Doubt", "The Fight For Character", "The Greatest Christian in the World", "The Greatest Work in the World". But there were other meetings; at least 450 men attended the "Life Work Conferences"; there were meetings of fraternities, departments, each contributing to the general success of the whole.

Engineering News.

Mr. C. G. Gaum, of the School of Engineering has been detailed to take charge of the organization of Engineering Extension work in Philadelphia and vicinity. Mr. Gaum will act as resident representative of the Division of Engineering Extension in co-operation with the companies visited by Professor Calderwood on his recent visit to Philadelphia, and will also arrange for classes in nearby towns and cities. Mr. J. Leeds Clarkson has been appointed resident instructor for this work.

Mr. A. T. Brown has for several months successfully conducted classes in Shop Arithmetic, Advanced Shop Mathematics, and Shop Sketching at Tyrone. These classes are conducted in the Pennsylvania Railroad Shops in co-operation with the R. R. Y. M. C. A. Mr. Brown is now arranging to establish similar classes at Pittsburgh.

The materials for the new Engineering Unit are beginning to arrive and work will be begun as soon as the weather permits.

Mr. Boyd Fisher, Secretary of the National Efficiency Society, will address the Senior engineers in the Old Chapel on Friday, February 13, 1914.

Attend the entertainment to be given Thursday night by students of Hampton Institute.

THE BASEBALL SCHEDULE.

Candidates Have Reported and Work Has Started.

The baseball season was ushered in rather inauspiciously last Friday night in the Old Chapel when only 42 candidates reported to captain Wardwell's call for Varsity candidates. No less than 150 men should stir up the coals of State Spirit.

Despite the small turnout a very enthusiastic meeting was held. Manager Gauthier introduced the following speakers: coaches Manning and Haverstick, "Shorty" Miller and Captain Wardwell.

Captain Wardwell announced a new system of baseball training, which will be as strict as the system in vogue for football men. Captain Wardwell is to be congratulated for his progressive step.

More men are urgently requested to report. New men should hand a copy of their schedule to Manning in order that he may decide on practice periods.

The first two periods in the morning; the first two periods of Monday and Wednesday afternoons; and Saturday afternoon have been allotted for practice in the gymnasium.

Manager Gauthier has nearly completed his schedule which includes trips South, North and West. A glance will show the schedule to be the hardest in years.

April 4—Open.
April 8—Navy away.
April 9—University of North Carolina away.
April 10—Trinity away.
April 11—Washington and Lee away.

April 18—University of Penn at Philadelphia.

April 14—Villa Nova at Villa Nova.

April 18—Dickinson at home.

April 24—West Virginia University at home.

April 25—West Virginia University at home.

May 1—Lehigh at South Bethlehem.

May 2—Lafayette at Easton.

May 4—Vermont at Burlington.

May 5—Dartmouth at Hanover.

May 6—West Point at West Point.

May 7—Princeton at Princeton.

May 8—Open at Home.

May 16—West Virginia Wesleyan at home.

May 19—Washington and Jefferson at Washington.

May 20—Pitt at Pittsburgh.

May 21—Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

Novel Program.

The Deutscher Verein will have a "Pennsylvania Dutch" night on Friday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p. m. in the Old Chapel. Mr. Knauss of the German department will give a short talk on the origin and customs of the Pennsylvania Dutch. Songs and recitations in Pennsylvania Dutch will be given and a Pennsylvania Dutch square dance will be a feature. Music and a Pennsylvania Dutch lunch will be provided. All interested are welcome.

Dr. Holmes will again lecture on "Doubts and Doubters" in the Old Chapel on Sunday evenings.

MATMEN DEFEAT NAVY

Penn State Wrestlers Outclass Naval Academy Team in an Interesting Meet—Lamb Surprises Navy Contingent.

On Saturday afternoon the Penn State wrestling team put away a victory in its first meet of the season by winning five of the seven bouts from the strong Naval Academy team. The score in points was 12 to 5, three points being credited to a fall and two points for decision. A large crowd witnessed the meet, which was held in conjunction with a gymnastic meet between Navy and New York University and a fencing match with Harvard opposing Navy.

The Blue and White alone was victorious over the Middies, in the contest around which nearly all the interest of the crowd centered.

Shorty Long, wrestling in the bantam weight class, started the ball rolling by winning after twelve minutes of hard clean wrestling against Haugh for the Navy.

The heavy weight bout was called next and here Navy received one of the surprises of the meet. Howe, the giant football guard, went to the mat on top of Lamb but could stay there for a few seconds only.

Lamb immediately became the aggressor and in less than three minutes had Howe tied up in a combined back Nelson and leg lock, which resulted in a fall similar to a cradle hold.

With five points in favor of the Blue and White, Crockett met Wyatt in the special weight class.

Both men were aggressive and worked fast for the first half of the allotted time, when Crockett by some of the quickest work of the meet took advantage of an opening to secure a neck lock combined with a body hold. His opponent fought hard and long but was finally forced to the mat.

Kirk in the light weight class proved another surprise to the Navy. In Hoops he met one of the Navy veterans, who was counted upon to win. He rushed Kirk from the start but could not stand the pace and for the final six minutes of the bout was at the mercy of the lanky Penn State man, Kirk winning easily on decision.

Gladden, another man on the Navy team of much experience, won the first points for his team, when he secured a fall from Hill by using a combined near and far nelson with a wrist lock, which proved as effective as a double nelson but could not be classed as such. Brodfoot brought Navy the rest of her points by winning from Yerger in nine minutes in one of the closest and hardest fought bouts of the meet.

The most interesting as well as most desperate contested bout occurred in the light heavy weight class, when Sayre met Ward. The Penn State man showed greater knowledge of the game and immediately became the aggressor. He secured near falls from various holds, but could not overcome the wonderful gameness of the Navy matman, who prevented a fall by withstanding a great deal of punishment.

The Blue and White team received the best of treatment at the hands of the Midshipment and were given a rousing oration by them at the time of departure.

Summary:

115-pound class—Long, Penn State won decision over Hough, Navy—12 minutes.

125-pound class—Crockett, Penn State threw Wyatt, Navy, with neck and body lock in five minutes, 35 seconds.

135-pound class—Kirk, Penn State won decision over Hoops Navy in nine minutes.

145-pound class—Gladden, Naval Academy, threw Hill, Penn State with modified full nelson in three minutes, 25 seconds.

157-pound class—Brodfoot, Navy, won from Yerger, Penn State on decision in nine minutes.

175-pound class—Sayre, Penn State won from Ward, Navy, on decision in nine minutes.

Heavyweight Class—Lamb Penn State threw Howe, Navy, with back nelson and near leg lock combination in two minutes 20 seconds.

Referee, Lynch, of Baltimore. Timers, Jones, Penn State, Stecker, Navy.

PRESIDENT NOT A CANDIDATE

Dr. Sparks Disposes of Gubernatorial Rumor.

During the past few weeks it has been rumored that President Sparks would become a candidate for the office of Governor of this State on the Republican Party ticket at the next election, and being directly affected, the interest of the student body naturally has been aroused to know if this rumor was founded upon facts.

An interview with President Sparks discloses the fact that he is not a gubernatorial candidate and has no intention of entering the race. He states that, in view of his well known partisanship to State College, he would be suspected of a desire to turn over all the money in the State Treasury to this institution, and further, that he does not aspire to any office higher or more useful than that which he now holds as head of Penn State.

Whatever may have been our hopes for his success had the rumor been correct, a keener sense of satisfaction exists in knowing that the splendid works which he has promoted will continue to be carried out by the mind that conceived them.

Experimental Results Published.

The Engineering Station has prepared a bulletin on earth pressures dealing particularly with the transmission of pressure through sand. This bulletin is the result of a series of experiments conducted in the Highway Laboratory in co-operation with the State Highway Department. Mr. Willis Whited, Chief Bridge Engineer of the State Highway Department, has been much interested in these experiments and because of their importance to the Engineering Profession will read a paper describing the results at the next annual meeting of the National Highway Association which will be held in Chicago. This work was begun under the direction of Prof. Shattuck by J. R. Shank in 1912 and has been continued by R. B. Fehr and C. R. Thomas.

Prof. J. O. Kammerman, Prof. J. P. Calderwood and Mr. W. D. Canan with a party of senior electrical and mechanicals tested the power plant at the Capitol Building in Harrisburg during the past week.

A VICTORY CAGED

Winning Streak Continues When Five Defeats Carnegie Tech 50-25, Even Contest During First Half.

Carnegie Tech proved to be an easy rival when our boys struck their stride last Saturday night.

The game through its early stages, however, was one of the hardest and fastest that has been played this season and for a time it seemed that we had again underestimated the strength of our opponents or were over-confident of our own.

Tech opened the game with a foul goal closely followed by a pretty field goal by their center. Park and Savery placed us in the lead by a pair of beauties and for the rest of the half, with the exception of the spurt our team took in the last few minutes, one point separated the scores. Hav's goal on the heels of two successive ones by Park gave us the comfortable lead of 20 to 13 at the end of the first period.

The home team had things their own way in the following half. Towards the end of the game State had doubled her lead and Tech found herself playing against an entirely new lineup. The individual work of Binder, Park and Metzgar was the feature for State while Tumpane and Colvin proved to be the main supports of the visitors. The game ended 25 to 50 in our favor. The lineup:

Binder(Göckley) f Tumpane
Park(Davidson) f Sevy(Henning)
(Bishop)

Jester(Wilson) c Colvin
Hay(Warr) g Douthett
Savery(Metzgar)g Hines

Substitutions: Penn State—Göckley for Binder; Davidson for Park; Bishop for Davidson; Wilson for Jester; Warr for Hay; Metzgar for Savery. Tech—Henning for Levy. Field goals—Binder, Park 4, Hay 3, Jester, Tumpane, Metzgar, Colvin 2, Warr, Wilson, Bishop. Foul goals: Binder, 14 out 22; Tech, 12 out of 24. Referee, Taggart. Timekeeper, Martin.

Interclass Basketball.

The juniors dropped their second interclass contest last Friday night when the sophomores triumphed to the tune of 23 to 15.

The general work of both teams showed improvement. This was particularly true of the junior team. Their team work was greatly superior to the exhibition given at their former game. Standing:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
1914	2	0	1000
1916	2	0	1000
1915	0	2	000
1917	0	2	000

Senior Dance

The second senior dance will be held in the Armory, Thursday night, February 12, at eight o'clock. Programs are on sale at the Toggery shop and by the committee.

It seems necessary to remind spectators not to detract from any college affairs by their actions.

Alpha Tau Omega.

The Delphi local fraternity was installed as the Pennsylvania Gamma Omega chapter of the national organization Alpha Tau Omega last Friday. A more detailed account of the ceremony will appear in the next issue of the Collegian.
