Lacrosse Schedule

The following schedule of home games has been arranged for the lacrosse team: April 25, Baltimore C. C.; May 2, U. of Pa.; May 9, Baltimore Poly. Inst.; May 15, Hobart; May 23, Carlisle; May 30, Stevens; June 6, Swarthmore (pending).

A trip to New York is being planned for Easter week which will include games with Hoboken, Bronx and New York clubs.

Practice will start March 16 either in the armory or outdoors. The training table will be started shortly after practice begins.

The prospects for a successful season are very bright. Erhart and Wilson, of 1913, and Gill, a two year man, leave the only vacancies in last year's team. The new men who reported last fall will fill the open positions ably and probably win places filled by 1913 regulars. The center position at present seems to be the one weakness. Men with speed and weight should report with the beginning of the season; the principle fault with the team being its lack of weight.

The Income Tax.

"The new federal income tax is one of the manifestations of the wave of democratic and humanitarian sentiment which has recently swept the country," declared Prof. O. C. Lockhart, of Ohio State University, in a lecture recently. "It is best regarded as an effort to throw a larger share of the cost of government upon the wealthy, and somewhat to relieve the poorer classes from the relatively heavy burden which customs and internal revenue duties place upon them.

"The large use which the law makes of virtual self-assessment opens the door to fraud and evasion," continued Professor Lockhart. "It would probably have been better to levy a more moderate tax, collected wherever possible from the one from whom the income is received, and to place less reliance on personal declarations on income until the administrative machinery of the tax could have been perfected. The exemption is too high to make the tax a large revenue producer, but revenue was the excuse rather than the true reason for the tax. Despite imperfections of detail, the tax is a desirable addition to the federal revenue system, and will permit of better adjustment of revenues to expenditures than has heretofore been possible."

Forestry Society Meeting.

At the Forestry Society meeting on Wednesday, March 4, at seven o'clock, Professor R. R. Chaffee will give an illustrated talk about the "Senior Lumbering Trips in New York State."

GRAHAM ON THE CORNER

A Beaver Memorial.

The action of A. G. Stalklecht, of the class of '78, in giving $10 as a start toward a memorial fund for the late General Beaver challenges the attention of both alumnus and undergraduate alike. It is the intention of those directly interested that this fund shall be known as the General Beaver Memorial Fund and money received therefor shall be allowed to accumulate and later be used in the erection of a Social Hall, which shall house the various college organizations.

The need for a Social Hall has been keenly felt for some time and, while many efforts have been made to interest outside parties in this cause, nothing definite has been accomplished. Therefore, it rests with every Penn State man, both graduate and undergraduate, to further this worthy undertaking and do something for his Alma Mater. The cause which we champion is worthy of every cent you invest in it. Let more of us follow the example set by Mr. Stalklecht and a Social Hall will indeed become a reality.

Concert and Spring Tour

The Penn State Glee Club will give a concert on the evening of March 20. The program is being prepared, and will consist of two parts, formal and informal, the latter being a musical sketch. Tickets for the entertainment will be on sale a week or more before the date mentioned.

The same program will be given on the spring tour which is planned for the club. Tentative dates have been secured for concerts to be given in Erie, Jamestown, Brookville, Warren, Corry and Kane. This trip will probably be taken during the first week in May.

Advertisement Awarded First Prize

Written by Mr. E. J. Humer

In connection with this advertisement let us state—the confidence placed in us by the general public, the patrons of this store, and our wholesale firms, during our fourteen years business history we deem as one of our greatest assets. For only when fullest confidence exists can business service attain its highest level. We are constantly endeavoring and striving to merit the confidence; in the character of goods we offer being trustworthy and dependable both in quality and fashion; by always selling as reasonable as goods of the kind can possibly be sold; by at all times being ever ready and anxious to replace anything sold which does not give the satisfactory service it should or fails for any cause.

Confidence

Webster defines CONFIDENCE as "a reliant faith." The Sim Shop is synonymous with that. If your best friend was the proprietor of the Sim Shop and you needed a suit, you would go there confident that you would get a suit that fitted you perfectly, that was "le dernier cri" in fashion, and would cost you no more or less than was consistent with the value thereof.

Consider the Sim Shop and its staff your best friends. Go there full of CONFIDENCE that you will get the latest and the best.

"If it be a suit it will fit you perfectly to the smallest detail.

"If it be a tie or what not, it will be satisfactory in every respect.

"The article you buy is priced the same to you as to Tom, Dick or Harry.

"They are pleased only when you are.

"Make the Sim Shop your Shop and realize the full significance of TRUE CONFIDENCE."
