

INDIANA TEAM NEXT

Penn State Matmen to Meet Westerners in the Armory on Saturday Evening—Visitors Will Have a Strong Team—"Pop" Golden to Referee.

Indiana University will be the next opponent of the Blue and White in wrestling. The meet will be held in the Armory at 7:15 o'clock in the evening. The westerners will be remembered as the team that gave Penn State one of her hardest fights last season and there is no doubt but that they will come prepared to give the Blue and White another hard contest for victory. Indiana University is a member of the Western Conference and the meet with them will prove of interest due to the fact that it will form a basis for comparing the strength of the eastern and western colleges in this branch of sports.

Trials for the local team are being held this week and every man who has thus far been on the team is being forced to extend himself to hold his place. For this reason the Blue and White is sure to have a strong lineup. The hardest fights for places will probably occur in the middle weight and light heavy weight classes, respectively. Pickett is improving all the time and keeps Hill working hard for his place while Sayre will have to defeat Stecker to regain the place he lost in the trials for the last meet.

Interest will be increased in this match due to the fact that the management has been fortunate enough to secure the services of W. N. Golden to act as referee. "Pop" Golden, as he is popularly known, needs no introduction to Penn State students and everyone who has ever seen him officiate, knows that the meet will be satisfactorily taken care of in this respect.

The tickets for this meet will be on sale at the Toggery Shop on Thursday and Friday evenings, and on Saturday afternoon. The regular prices as charged for previous meets will be used for this attraction. Sections reserved for various departments and classes will be held open a reasonable length of time after which tickets will be sold in any section to anyone. You will help the management and insure yourself a good seat for this meet by calling early for your tickets. This may prove to be the last meet of the season and you therefore can't afford to miss it.

Interclass Basketball.

The interclass basketball league furnished a good evening's entertainment last Wednesday evening when a double leader was played.

The clash between the sophomores and juniors was the most closely contested game of the season and in many respects the best. The second year men barely nosed out their elders in the last few minutes.

The seniors entirely outclassed the freshmen in the second game. The freshmen showed little improvement over former games while the fast senior combination worked at it best.

Mass Meeting

An important Athletic Association Mass Meeting will probably be held in the near future. Watch for the date, follow the good example set at the last meeting and attend!

THESPIANS PROGRESSING

Show Being Rapidly Whipped Into Shape.

"The Innocents", to be given in the Auditorium on March 27, will be undoubtedly the most elaborate production ever staged by the Penn State Thespians. This is especially true with regard to scenery and costumes. New scenery is being made for both acts of the play; and the country club exterior and chateau courtyard called for in the stage directions give unlimited opportunities for an artistic setting. Costumes for both cast and chorus are being secured and are modern in every detail.

It has been necessary to make several changes in the personnel of the show due to the withdrawal of several men. W. Swanson '15 has been elected to the position of assistant manager. Graham '15 has replaced Bemus '17 in the cast, playing the part of "Bob". Dawson, Cox and Jameson have been added to the chorus to fill positions left vacant by Graham, Thomas and Schanche. Both new men and old have been taking part in rehearsals for some time, and during the next three weeks it will be necessary for Coach Downing to put on only the "finishing touches" for a well balanced and successful production.

It is probable that the Easter trip will be extended to include Conneville, Pa. and probably Tyrone.

Chapel Requirements Explained
All students except seniors in their second semester are expected to attend daily chapel at least three times a week and Sunday chapel at least three times a month.

No student should absent himself from chapel for any cause whatsoever without permission obtained by personal application at the office of the Dean of the General Faculty.

Any student who has any overcuts whatever is delinquent and liable to forfeiture of his college standing.

For information merely, the names of delinquent students are published weekly.

A delinquent student should call immediately at the office of the Dean of the General Faculty and explain his delinquency.

If a student's name does not appear on the delinquent list, he is not therefore excused from responsibility for chapel overcuts.

Class Memorial

With the completion of the chimes fund at the Ohio State University, freshmen next year will probably have the opportunity of being called to class by the booming notes of bells across the fields. The chimes fund has been growing for eight years, each graduating class leaving its contribution to swell the total. It is estimated that the chimes will cost approximately $10,000. The present difficulty is to find a tower to house the bells. Orton Hall has been talked of, also a campanile built by the board of trustees of the University.

Mr. C. E. Barba, assistant Engineer, P. R. R., will address the Motive Power Club on "Principles of Design of Moving Parts", Friday, March 13, at 7 p. m., in room 202, Engineering Building. He will also speak at the Engineering Convocation in the afternoon.

BASKETBALL DEFEAT

Captain Brady's Team From W. and J. Shows Wonderful Defense. Blue and White Overcome by Two Point Margin in Last Half.

Followers of basketball experienced severe disappointment last Friday night when after a tough fight the Blue and White was forced to yield to W. and J. by a small margin. The game was practically the determining contest in the fight for the sectional championships. This game, won by Penn State would have insured the team a place in the final series for the championship of the state. As the situation stands at present W. and J. wins unless Pitt beats them at Washington next Friday and this is at best a forlorn hope under the conditions. Even if Pitt does win, another game will have to be played, since in that case the three teams will be tied.

The team work that the team has shown all during the season seemed to be lacking for some reason or other, during the final period. In the first half by a couple of brilliant passes and pretty shots by Binder, Jester and Savery a comfortable lead was piled up, the score being 13-8 when the time keeper blew his whistle. In the second half W. and J. men got the ball under the basket without a guard in sight and scored enough points to place them in the lead. Binder and his teammates seemed unable to get the ball through W. and J.'s defense and were unable to even up the score, so that when the final whistle blew the score, stood 21-19 with W. and J. on the big end. The features of the game were Binder's foul throwing and the guarding of Braden for W. and J. Binder was high scorer of the game with three goals and five free throws, not missing a chance at the latter.

Line-up as follows:
Penn State 19 W. and J. 21
Binder, Capt. f Goodwin
Park f Fisher
Jester c Barcly, Capt.
Hay b Braden
Savery b C. Nuss

Scorer—Hess.
Timer—Martin.

Referee—Crowell, Swarthmore.

Field goals—Binder 3, Park 1, Jester 2, Savery 1, Goodwin 3, Fisher 3, Brady 1.

Foul tries—Binder 5 out of 5, Nuss 7 out of 16.

Substitutions—Wilson for Jester, Savery for Binder, Metzgar for Savery, Davidson for Savery.

Last Games.

The last games in the interclass basketball league take place this week. On Wednesday night, the seniors play the sophomores, and on Friday night the juniors and freshmen battle for the cellar championship. The league has furnished a number of interesting contests this year, as well as proving valuable in developing future varsity stars, and the outcome of the series will be watched with interest. The struggle is between '14 and '16.

Prof. E. N. Zern, class of 1903, head of the School of Mines of the University of West Virginia, addressed the seniors and juniors of the School of Mines on last Tuesday morning. His subject was "The Mining Engineer in Service".

New Style of Class Hat

Contrary to the custom of former classes, the 1916 class will not display numerals on their hats. At the class meeting Thursday evening, the action was taken to substitute the class insignia, three short, white bars, for the customary numerals. Sophomores who have won their numerals will be permitted to wear them on the hat in addition to the insignia.

At the same meeting, A. L. Dorwart was elected manger of the class soccer team. Managers for baseball and track were nominated, but these elections were left until the next class meeting.

The class also agreed to pay $35 toward defraying the expenses of the Varsity debating teams. According to a motion which was favorably received, a petition is to be addressed to the Dean of the Faculty asking that such members of the class as, for various reasons, have been denied participation in class activities, be restored to full standing.

Summer Session

A new development in summer instruction for teachers will be the institution of a summer school of kindergarten and grades, in connection with the regular State College summer session for teachers to be held here from July to August 1914. The instruction will be supplemented by a model school including kindergarten and eight elementary grades.

Prof. B. H. Bottenhorn, of the State College High School, is to be principal, and six expert supervisors with assistants will have immediate charge of instruction.

National Educational Association

The Department of Superintendence of the National Educational Association held its annual meeting in Richmond during the last week in February. More than two thousand city superintendents, high school principals, normal school principals and college professors were in attendance. Dean Weber, of the School of Liberal Arts, represented the college at this meeting.

OUR DEBATERS WIN

State's Negative and Affirmative Teams Win From Dickinson and Swarthmore After Hard Contests.

The debate on the Woman's Suffrage question in the Auditorium last Friday night was probably the most interesting and fascinating contest that has taken place at State College for the last four years.

Mr. Auman, on the affirmative side for Dickinson, explained the question and established the fact that suffrage should be granted to women for the sake of justice, and that such a step would enhance the prosperity of the nation. The affirmative side endeavored to shift the burden of proof to the negative, in asking the negative to show that the granting of suffrage would be unjust. Before three men had spoken however, it was plain that the burden of proof rested with the affirmative and not with the negative.

The affirmative team from Dickinson was composed of the following men: L. W. Auman, C. C. Cole, H. E. Brumbaugh, and J. F. Melroy, alternate. The arguments set forth by these men were excellent and their delivery and refutation proved them to be debaters of the first order.

The following were the gladiators who defended the question for Penn State: F. E. Lininger, R. E. Geary, J. W. Carpenter, and D. McKay, alternate. The negative side was not only strong in the first speech, but its refutation was exceedingly efficient. It was lucky enough to be able to throw several bombs into the enemies camp before the conclusion of the contest. Every man on the negative did wonderful work in the rebuttal, Robert E. Geary '16 made the best speech, propounded the most striking arguments, and sent forth the most damaging of refutation. To him must accrue a large percentage of the credit for bringing about Penn State's victory.

Our affirmative team which was pitted against Swarthmore on the same evening was composed of the following men: Cranston, Jones, Skillman and McCord. It was also extremely successful at Swarthmore and, like the negative, it won by 2 to 1. The team had very destructive arguments with which to attack the construction of the Swarthmore orators and from appearances it is evident that these oratorical arrows were used with telling effect.

The debating teams wish to thank all those members of the faculty who so generously gave of their time and efforts to round the teams into shape. The success of both teams this year is due largely to the valuable coaching of Mr. W. L. Roberts of the English Department. The teams take this opportunity of extending to him a very sincere note of appreciation and thanks.

Recital.

This evening at 8:00 o'clock Prof. Robinson pupils in voice and piano will give a recital in the foyer of the Auditorium.

A prominent senior at the University of Chicago was recently thrown into a tank with his clothes on because he appeared on the campus without a mustache.
