

In the College World.

The Dickinsonian advances much good theory in the following statement: "We do not believe in counting our chickens before they are hatched, but do believe in having a few eggs which under proper conditions will hatch." In other words, it is well to have a few ideas that will "hatch" about exam time.

At South Dakota State College, a man who will give nothing to anything or anyone-not even a yell at a baseball game-is considered a parasite on the institution.

The student body of Ursinus College, adopted an honor system by a five-seventh vote. Allegheny also recently adopted an honor system by an over-whelming majority, there being only 26 unfavorable votes.

The Daily Texan records the challenge of a freshman to any student in the college to enter into a water-drinking contest with him. His record is two gallons in eight minutes. He is evidently one of "Billy's" Temperance Engines.

The students of Vanderbilt University have petitioned the faculty for a compulsory fee to help athletics, the Y. M. C. A. and college publications. The students of Washington & Lee are advocating a similar measure called the Campus Tax.

At Penn, 'tis said, the Freshmen know more about how the University should be run than does the Board of Trustees-that is, they think they do. According to The Pennsylvanian, they actually broke away from a college custom and refused to burn their "dinks" in the Sophomore Cremation bonfire.

The faculty at Bates has deemed it necessary to separate the men and women in the literary societies. It seems that heretofore these organizations were more "Society" societies, than literary societies.

An Oberlin debating team upheld the negative side of the woman suffrage question against two suffragists from Cleveland.

Hazing in all its forms has been abolished at Lafayette in a resolution which says that hazing is unworthy of society of gentlemen and scholars.

International Night.

On Saturday, May 23, at 7:30 p. m. the Cosmopolitan Club will present in the Old Chapel the International Night, the last entertainment of the year. Glimpses of the life and culture of different nations will be given in short talks, recitals, and folk songs. President Sparks will be the chief speaker of the evening. All are invited.

All keys must be returned and lockers reported vacant in the Armory by June 6 unless other arrangements are made with Physical Director Lewis. No refunds will be granted next year for lockers occupied during the present term.

At the last regular meeting of the Forum Literary Society, held May 12, the following officers were elected for the college year of 1914-1915: President, Dean Williams; vice-president, Willis R. Skillman; secretary, B. H. Dimit; treasurer, H. C. Davis.

Gym suits, towels, coats and various other unclaimed articles at the Armory will be offered at public sale, Friday evening, May 22, at seven o'clock. Auctioneer wanted.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Times will publish a special Penn State page next Sunday. The page will be made up of the pictures of members of the senior class who live in Allegheny county, Dr. Sparks and Dean Holmes; also some views of the college.

DON'T BE SHY

about eating our chocolates, bonbons, caramels or other candies. They won't hurt you no matter how many you eat. They are made of the purest materials we can get and no harmful coloring or adulteration is ever used in their manufacture. So eat all you want to. Give the children all you like. They are good as well as good tasting.

The Mass Meeting.

An athletic association mass meeting was held in the old chapel last Wednesday evening. The recommendation concerning minor sports insignia, which were laid on the table at the previous meeting, were put to a vote and passed. More support was asked for Lacrosse and Soccer and nominations were received for next year's officers. The candidates are as follows: for president; Gleason, Lamb, Barrow; for vice president, Park, Liebert, Cranston; for secretary, Weaver, Comly, Crockett, Thatcher. Another meeting will be held in the near future for the election of these officers.

If you go anywhere "resorting" this summer; or if you have the same kind of fun at home; you want to be smartly dressed, for any sort of emergency that may come up.

How would you like to look at light-weight suits; coats, quarter or half lined; made of imported worsteds or tweeds; English or Scotch? Perhaps you'd like to see what we can do for you in blue serge suits; or a blue serge coat, single or double breasted to wear with light trousers. You'll be surprised to find how well we can serve you at $20 or $25.

The Sim Clothes
