PINCHOT AT STATE

Progressive Candidate for Senator Speaks to Hundreds of Students From Co-op.

On Tuesday morning at 9.15 o'clock, many hundred students and residents of State College were delighted to hear a short address by Gifford Pinchot, the Progressive candidate for United States Senator from Pennsylvania. Arriving promptly on schedule time, the candidate spent only a moment in preparation for his brief remarks. Pinchot felt perfectly at home among the many students, and at once introduced himself as a Forester. He lost no time, however, to get down to the bed rock business of the campaign. There are two distinct types of government. The one is the kind that is run for the benefit of a few; the other is the kind carried on for the benefit of all the people governed. The first of these, the old dying type, in which everything is used for the big political men and the large monopolies, is rapidly passing out of existence. The latter type, the Rooseveltian government is bound to succeed it. Pinchot's candidacy is simply a deep conviction in the mind of the man himself, that this is the way he can help Pennsylvania rid the state of the men who oppress the poor people and bring hardship upon them. He is proud to tell of the manner in which he was dismissed from the governmental service a few years ago. "Fired for the good of the service" as has been asserted. The conspiracy of a few years ago which was brought to light by Mr. Pinchot, is well known to men who study the political events of the country. In speaking of the monopolies of business, and machine government, Pinchot made this strong statement, "Where the burden of monopoly falls is upon the man whose margin is the smallest". Taxpayers and common people pay for the interests of the monopoly. Penrose was severely attacked for the close alliance between himself and the monopolized business interests.

One of the issues which Mr. Pinchot meets squarely and strongly is the liquor question. He said, "I am against the liquor interests and the liquor interests are against me".

The thing the Progressive party is striving for is a decent government in Pennsylvania with a square deal to everyone and an "equal opportunity to all and special privilege to none."

In finishing his remarks Mr. Pinchot asked the support of his hearers for his campaign, and also asked their help for his running mates. He stated that Vance McCormick, a close friend of Penn State and also a trustee of the college, who is on the Democratic ticket for governor, will also appear on the Progressive ticket for governor. The Progressives are confident of victory because they feel that the people are tired of a Penrose-controlled government, as it is put by Mr. Pinchot. Another reason they feel so confident of victory is because "Teddy" Roosevelt expects to come into the state this fall and lead in the campaign work for the men on the Progressive ticket.

As a final word to the splendid crowd gathered on the corner at the "Co-op", Mr. Pinchot pledged himself that, if elected, he would stand true to the platform as laid down by himself, and that when he goes to Washington as the man to represent the people of Pennsylvania, he will go to the limit of his ability, knowledge and time to see that the people he represents shall have justice.

The party, of which the Progressive candidate is a member, is made up of several other men on the Progressive ticket. They are traveling in a large touring car and expect to make a clear sweep of the county in a short time.

Fatal Accident at Foundry.

Tarkoff, a member of the class of 1916 whose home was in Philadelphia, was fatally injured about two o'clock Tuesday afternoon while working about the furnace. It seems that he had taken a load of scrap iron up to the charging floor on the elevator. Shortly after that the falling of the elevator called the attention of a few instructors and they saw Tarkoff lying unconscious on the elevator floor. Evidently he had unloaded his iron and stepped back on to the elevator just a fraction of a second before it fell. A doctor was called at once and found that the injuries consisted of minor bruises about the body and concussion of the brain. Tarkoff died about 10:30 Tuesday night in the college infirmary.

Extra Call.

The call issued last spring for 1917 men to serve as second assistant managers in basketball and soccer did not bring out enough men. An additional registration in these two branches of sport will be received at the graduate manager's office until October 1.

State Foresters Ranked High

Of the 16 State men who took the government forestry examination this year 12 passed and of these seven have been appointed. This record is 50 per cent. better than the record of the entire 600 men who were examined.

has taken him in charge and expects to have him in condition soon. Kroft is also overweight but Parrish is in fine condition.

Czarnecki who arrived late gives great promise. He is Lamb's build and weight and very fast. He will make many hustle to win out. Gill, 203 pounds, is much overweight and little of his ability is known. He is big enough to make good. Sutton is another heavy linesman who shows much promise. All new men are urged to report and will be given every consideration. A Winner is the object of coaches Hollenback and Harlow

The cooperation in keeping the practice field clear is absolutely necessary for a successful early start.

The Musser farm just east of the Experiment State has been purchased by the college and will add greatly to our equipment.
