

In the College World

Dr. Frederick W. Hinett, D. D., Ph. D., president of the Central University of Kentucky at Danville, Kentucky, has been named president of W. and J. He will receive a salary of $7,200 annually.

Iowa State College will have another section of bleachers because the students didn't use up all the repair fund last year replacing property destroyed by them. Upon completion the bleacher will be set with an appropriate inscription showing the source of the money and giving the student body credit for the section built with their money.

J. F. Loyd, a student at the South Dakota College, has the distinction of paying the highest tuition of any one who has ever registered at that institution since its foundation. His tuition since the first semester began amounts to $112.00. His course includes two hours voice, two hours piano, one hour violin, one hour double bass and a course in German. Mr. Loyd's home is in Montana.

The summer session of Cornell University registered 1,436 teachers and students from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maryland, Connecticut, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia.

In the game between Dickinson and Western Maryland this fall, a Maryland end picked up a fumble and turning toward the wrong goal dodged past his own men. He ran 50 yards in the wrong direction before one of his teammates tackled him.

The slogan of the college band at Lafayette is "The Best College Band in the East". Wait till they hear about our stirring organization of 60 pieces at State.

There are 19 fraternities at Lehigh University. On October 1 the number of men pledged this year reached 114. This is a record breaking number for one season at Lehigh. At Lafayette 86 men have been pledged to fraternities since college opened.

by trying a few of our cigars for a change. We rather imagine you'll get surprise. For whatever you may pay for your smokes you'll get more cigar satisfaction for the same money here. This is not merely a boast. It is a fact proven by the hosts of discriminating smokers who buy their cigars here right along. Get aboard. All along the line our reputation for carrying the best line of cigars and smokers supplies is well known.

In "The Lafayette" we find the following article on Traditions:

"College traditions are productive of much amusement among non-college men. The idea of a senior devoting many weeks to the raising of a young and tender mustache in order that he may be distinguished from the lower classmen is very amusing to the practical, self-educated business man. The blowing of horns and the ringing of cow bells when unescorted girls venture upon the campus is the subject of merriment among the townspeople. Such customs frequently meet with severe criticism on the part of the uninitiated. But traditions and customs have their place in a college. They are the expression of the individuality of an institution. From a study of the traditions of a college much can be learned about the student body. The presence or absence of principles of honor, the prevalence of democracy or snobbery, the possession or lack of a sense of humor—these and many other deductions can be made from a study of traditions. A college is judged largely by the customs of its undergraduates. From time to time new customs and new traditions become established at our college. From time to time old conventions outgrow their period of usefulness. Let us seek, therefore, to discover which traditions are valuable. Let us keep these and discard those which are harmful. Let us hand down to future classes a legacy of good customs. It is only by this means that a college can have traditions and still keep step with modern progress."

Last year President Sparks offered a prize for the best football song. The prize was divided between James A. Leyden for "Victory" and Rex L. Myers for "Hurrah Penn State". A similar offer is made this year for an all-round college song embodying such features as location, surroundings, spirit, ideals, aspirations and student loyalty of The Pennsylvania State College. The popularity of the song at the close of the college year will largely determine the winner. Songs should be submitted to Director Robinson, who will give all offerings a fair trial.
