

URSINUS DEFEATED EASILY

Eleven Which Tied Lafayette Outplayed in Every Department. Varsity Taking Shape for Big Games. Every Phase of Play Improved.

The fourth game of the season resulted in a great victory over Ursinus by the score 30-0. The game shows that the eleven is in fine condition for the Harvard game and that the Lafayette game will give the coaches a chance to prepare for Lehigh. A great improvement in every department of the game was noticed which reflects great credit to the work of the coaches during the past week in bringing about such a remarkable improvement. Captain Tobin was clearly the stellar player of the game. His fine defensive work, judgment on play selection but more particularly his ability to pick holes and sidestep players stamps him as one of State's greatest players. Lamb's work was of a spectacular nature, especially on the receiving end of a forward pass. His defensive game also showed an improvement. With these two men must be mentioned Kratt whose exhibition at tackle was little short of perfect. He made use of every ounce of strength, either in opening holes or on the defensive. McDowell was another man who improved so much that he will probably start the Harvard game.

In the backfield, the work was equally good. Clark got off every kick cleanly and they generally carried 40 yards or more. His line plunging was of high order as was the end running of James. The substitutions also caused much satisfaction for in hardly a case was there a noticeable difference. The only men who made their first appearance on the varsity were Sutton at guard, Edgerton at half-back and Seamon at guard. They all played well.

The most notable faults in the team play was the slow forming and slow starting interference and their tendency to run to wide. The men on the interference also tended to leave their feet too early, while the holding in the line was very costly.

Lamb made a short kick to Ursinus who ran back five yards. After an exchange of kicks State started on a march for a score from midfield. Welty and Clark on five plays carried the ball to striking distance of the goal line. Here Ursinus caught a forward pass over the goal line and put the ball in play on the 20 yard line. After an exchange of kicks another march was stopped by a fumble. Ursinus meanwhile found the line too strong and played a kicking game. The next series of plays resulted in a touchdown. Higgins made seven yards and Tobin added 12 on two plays. Clark carried the ball over in four plays and Lamb kicked the goal just at the beginning of the second period. Shortly after this play Referee Newton strained a tendon and changed positions with Umpire Merriman. Dr. Newton coached State for three years in 1896-97-98.

State received the kick off and an exchange of kicks gave the ball to Ursinus in State territory. Bowman made 15 yards and four more plays made a try for field goal possible. Wood broke through the line and deflected the ball and State recovered on the 10 yard line. State pulled together and shortly scored another touchdown when Lamb went over the goal line after catching a long forward pass. This score was made possible by a great run by Tobin for 35 yards. The half ended with State having the ball in Ursinus territory and the score 14-0.

A touchdown was added in the early third period. Ursinus made a forward out of bounds at midfield. Two line plays netted 18 yards and then Tobin ran almost to the goal line out a beautiful exhibition of open field running. He went over on the next play. A field goal was kicked by Lamb in the third period from the 35 yard line after another touchdown was barred because of State holding. The last touchdown resulted from great running by Clark and Tobin and a short forward pass on which Lamb gained 40 yards.

The Liberal Arts Society
 The Liberal Arts Society a held rather well attended mass meeting in the Old Chapel last Friday evening. Mr. Kester, Dr. Rapeer, and Professor Marshman spoke, and Mr. Williams rendered a vocal solo.

The schools of engineering and mines will have a joint exhibit in the Harrisburg Auditorium in connection with the Pennsylvania Industrial Welfare and Efficiency Convention. The convention is to be held in the House of Representatives, November 16-20.

NOTED LECTURER COMING

Dr. Winfield S. Hall Will be Here This Week.

The speaker at both chapel exercises Sunday will be Dr. Winfield S. Hall, of Chicago. The services at 11 o'clock in the Auditorium will be a meeting for men only. Dr. Hall will speak both Saturday evening and Sunday evening in the Auditorium. These meetings will be open to all who desire to attend.

Dr. Hall holds the chair of physiology in Northwestern University Medical School, Chicago; he has a high standing in the scientific and pedagogic world; was president of the American Academy of Medicine, and is president of the Child Conservation League of America. He has recently been chosen to prepare sex education literature for the American Medical Association. He was the first man to place sex education on a scientific basis and to direct it into more constructive channels. He is the best known and most experienced lecturer and writer on sex topics in America today. Last year he spoke under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association to over 52,000 students, and everywhere made a most favorable impression upon students, and faculty as well.

The students of Penn State are to be congratulated on their opportunity to hear a man like Dr. Hall. He comes with a well known reputation, and not a single man can afford to miss what he has to say.

The advance sale of tickets for the Y. M. C. A. Entertainment course during the past week has been quite large. There are, however, a number of good seats remaining, for which first choice will be given at $1.25. They may be purchased at any time at the Y. M. C. A. office on second floor of Main Building.

The Stock Judging Team.

Our stock judging team, composed this year of M. H. Keeney '15, C. W. Dupstadt '15, H. O. Henderson '15, and E. A. Rice '13-'15, left on its annual trip to Chicago last Monday noon. The men under the direction of Mr. Anthony, will spend a week on the trip, visiting three cattle breeding establishments en route, the Hartman Stock farms, the Barber estate at Barberton Ohio and the Van Hegen Holstein breeding establishment in Barrington, Illinois. A visit to the University of Ohio in Columbus will also be included. The National Dairy Association Show in Chicago, which is the object of the invasion of the west, will not open until Friday, the time until then being taken up with these side issues just mentioned. The expenses of the men are paid in the form of scholarships.

Last year there were 16 teams representing as many different colleges at the show and in that bunch our fellows ranked fifth. We had the high man in Guernsey breeds, second high in Ayresbires, and we brought back all the trophies awarded by the Guernsey Cattle club. In addition to seven trophy cups, and numerous small prizes, there are four scholarships of $400 each to be used in post graduate work. The privilege of taking this trip is one of the D. H. man's fondest ambitions while in school, and the four men this year, as in all previous times, will do their best to cover themselves with glory.

The Debating Council

Last Wednesday evening, the Debating Council met in the Library and discussed some important business. Up until the present time the council has existed more by precedent than anything else. Its relation to the general student body was not clearly defined and it had no systematic support. Now it is proposed that a constitution be drawn up, that it be subject to the criticism of the Student Board and Student Council, and finally that it be voted on by the students themselves. By so doing, the council hopes to establish itself as a permanent institution, to arouse a greater interest in its particular field of work, and to gain the support of every man in college.

The question to be debated in the league this year has not as yet been decided upon. The custom has been that three or four schools represented in the league shall submit each a question, and that from those three questions, the fourth shall select the one to be debated. It is not certainly known just which school will have the decision, although it is probable that Dickinson will have that privilege. The question submitted by us is as follows: Resolved: That the best method for settling disputes which arise in or between the republics of America and which threaten international trade relations would be through a federation of all the republics of America.

For the Future Hep

A class has been started for the instruction of non-commissioned officers and privates. It is conducted by Lieutenant Bonner under the direction of Commandant Chafin. The object is to make better trained non-commissioned officers and to prepare for advancement those who show interest and ability. There is nothing compulsory about the class, but it is understood that those who attend stand first in line for promotion.

L. A. Parker '14, arrived in State College last week. He is now employed in the State Highway Department of Pennsylvania.

The attendance at both chapel services next Sunday is strictly limited to men.

HARVARD MASS MEETING

Numerous Innovations Planned. Many Important Questions to be Considered—Fill the Auditorium is Slogan—All Out.

Tonight in the Auditorium a mass meeting will be held which will mark a new era in football mass meetings. The first mass meeting of the year clearly indicated that the student body had outgrown the Old Chapel. The Auditorium will just hold the entire student body and no one will have to return to their rooms because of the lack of space. The football team up to the present time has made a remarkable record. Four strong teams have been defeated and the State goal line is still uncrossed. The team is deserving of all the spirit that the student body can work up. No matter what the score on Saturday will be our team will make a great impression and a State victory is not wholly improbable.

Mr. Fleming, who was the 1913 football manager, realizing the value of spirit has planned a great meeting. Robinson, Gillespie, Schultz and the Glee Club will provide some vaudeville acts. The entire band will be on hand to provide music between the acts. The coaches, Captain Tobin and a few other football men will make short speeches.

A discussion will be held to find out whether the students contemplate going to either Lehigh or Lafayette and which game is preferred so that arrangements can be made by the graduate manager's office.

Another point for consideration will be the question of awarding lacrosse insignia to the men who played on the lacrosse team during its first season. According to the rule not a sufficient number of games were played but inasmuch as the sport was new that year it has been felt that possibly an exception to the rule might be made.

This mass meeting will be one of the greatest in the history of the school rivaling the night when, before the Pitt game in 1912, Luby made his memorable speech or the meeting last year when Shorty Miller made his last speech. At that meeting so much enthusiasm was aroused that an unsuccessful team outplayed and nearly defeated one of Pitt's greatest teams. What will be the effect of this meeting?

In addition to attending this meeting it is the duty of every man who can to be at practice this afternoon and to be at the station tomorrow to send the team away with a cheer. All out.

Meet the Train

The following is a clipping from the F. and M. weekly previous to the Penn game—all of which goes to show the uncertainty of football. "It is hardly expected that the team will bring home victory from Penn tonight. Nevertheless, go down to meet the train. Show those fellows that you believe that they played the hardest game they knew how. Even then the unexpected may happen, and we'll have a chance to set the town on fire with enthusiasm. Don't forget."

Any men who desire interviews with Dr. Hall can do so at the Y. M. C. A. office.
