

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT WRESTLING MEET

Penn Team Easily Defeated Before Largest Audience in Penn State History. Lamb Defeated for First Time. Light-weight Bout Full of Thrills.

The first and probably last of the Penn State and Pennsylvania athletic relations of this collegiate year, resulted in a 20-11 victory for Penn State last Saturday night in the Armory when the Penn wrestlers were defeated. The Armory was packed to its capacity because it was State's first home meet of the year and because of the wide publicity given the Lamb-Dorizas contest.

Lamb weighed in at 196 pounds and Dorizas at 215 pounds. The first three minutes consisted of aggressive wrestling with Lamb having a slight advantage. With Dorizas underneath the enormous crowd cheered until hoarse but by a superhuman effort Dorizas got to his feet. Once again Lamb carried the battle to Dorizas. He tried to trip his heavier opponent but failed. Both went to the mat. At this point Lamb slipped slightly and the alert Dorizas soon pinned his shoulders to the mat with a half nelson.

Aside from this bout, the most interesting came with the first contest. Like all the succeeding contests except the last, neither man went to the mat until five minutes had elapsed. With about four minutes left Long found an opening and went to the mat on top of Sherman. Two or three times the Penn man extricated himself when he seemed to have lost but he finally lost when Long obtained a neck and wrist lock.

Brown of Penn State followed Long by winning on a fall after six minutes and 42 seconds. Like the first, the bout was well contested but once on the mat Brown consumed less time in pinning Wooley's shoulders to the mat with an arm twist and body lock.

Kirk added State's last victory when he won a decision on aggressiveness over Mitchell. Two or three times, he seemed to be in a position to add a third fall to State's column but Mitchell in each instance slipped away.

The next three bouts resulted in draws after 12 minutes of wrestling in each weight. At no time in these three contests did any man go to the mat.

The heavyweight contest terminated the program.

"DAD" ELLIOTT TO BE HERE

Noted Worker in Problems of College Life Coming for Week End.

"Dad" Elliott, the man who conducted Penn State's first religious campaign, will be here February 20, 21 and 22. He is an old time favorite of students here, and this will make his third visit to us within a range of a few years.

"Dad" is a graduate of North Carolina university where he played left end on the football team for four years, and was named as All-Western end in the year 1901. He was captain of the university track team in the spring of 1901; president of the student Y. M. C. A. for two years, and a member of popular societies there.

He will speak here at an open meeting in the Auditorium on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock; at both chapels on Sunday morning; at a meeting open to all at three o'clock in the afternoon, and at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 6:30.

"I heard with interest Mr. Elliott's address, and I believe that he presents the logic of true life for young men. Every college man ought to hear him."—Prof. B. F. Eyer, of Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Dad" Elliott is a college man himself and knows how to deal with the problems peculiar to college students. Having made a record as an athlete while a student he can deal with the physical as well as the mental and moral side of the life of college men."—Manhattan (Kansas) Journal.

A Rifle Range
Among the many things we need and someday hope to get is a rifle range, and we learn through Lieutenant Chaffin that that favor has been promised us. The new range, which will be indoors, it is hoped, will be constructed this summer and be ready for use at the opening of next term.

Of the blessings and advantage attendant upon such an acquisition, there is no doubt. To have a good rifle club it is necessary to have a suitable place to shoot and so far no such place has been forthcoming. The use of the temporary range over the locker room was discontinued by the military department on account of its unsanitary condition. The local club could not hope to compete in any intercollegiate shoots with such facilities.

Our Rifle club numbers almost a hundred and for a nominal fee, it is hoped that someone can be hired to keep the new range open all the time, so that members may go in at any time of day and practice. The department is very anxious to have the new range because such an opportunity to practice marksmanship will greatly increase the efficiency and worth of military training.

Tau Beta Pi Endorses Honor System

The Tau Beta Pi association wishes to express its opinion on what it considers one of the greatest questions that has ever been brought before the student body, viz, the adoption of the honor system.

The object of the society is the promotion of scholarship among students with character as a basis, and the society feels that the present system of conducting quizzes and examinations is not adequate for the highest development of these aims.

Most men who practice dishonesty in their school work, do so, not of their own volition, but because their sense of honesty has not been appealed to; and as it has been proved that a man does his best when under the greatest responsibilities. By putting a man on his honor in examinations, it will be an incentive for him to use greater endeavor in his work and will therefore raise the standard of scholarship.

Everything that has been trusted to the students has worked out successfully, so why should the students not take this problem into their own hands and solve it in the same commendable manner.

An honor system stands for the best there is in a man, and that which even contains an element of good deserves a trial. An appeal is made here to the men of Penn State to consider well a thing that will tend toward the betterment of their alma mater.

Boxing Tournament Planned

Boxing, which has never met with the same degree of popularity at Penn State as at other colleges of the country, seems about to regain in a measure at least, some of the interest which attended it several years ago. "Doc" Lewis is busy at present with plans for a boxing tournament, that is being held in the Armory sometime during the early part of March. Should there be sufficient entries to warrant it, the tournament will be held in the form of an interclass contest, which will be conducted under the same classification of weights as wrestling, namely: the 115 pound, 125, 135, 145, 158, 175 and heavy weight classes. The tentative scheme calls for contests of three or four rounds duration, and it is understood that medals will be awarded to winners of the final bouts. The 1916 class already has entrants enough to insure a representation in each of the specified weights, and at a recent meeting the class elected Charles E. Berger boxing manager. The same amount of interest on the part of the other three classes is all that is needed to bring about the complete success of the plan.

Campaign Notice!

Since the opening of the Mott campaign 36 of "The Fellowship Hymns" have disappeared. Have you got one of them? They are good stuff—but the return of either the book or the cash (30c) will help the Y. M. C. A. to close the accounts of the Campaign.

Special Ag. Society Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of the Ag society in the Old Chapel, Friday evening, at seven o'clock. Mr. John McSparren, Master of Pa. Grange, will speak. All Ag men and any others interested are urged to attend.

The Commerce Club.

The latest organization of students, which bids fair to become a very interesting, profitable and important institution is the Commerce club. Some twenty men of those taking the course in commerce and finance held a banquet at the Nittany inn last Thursday night and listened to an address by Mr. William Hensey, superintendent of the Baldwin Locomotive works. The agitation in favor of a permanent organization has been going on for some time, but the entertaining of Mr. Hensey was the first concerted action in that direction. It is the purpose of the club, which is open to all pre-legal and commerce and finance men, to have men prominent in the business world come here and address them, in much the same manner as did Mr. Hensey. The interest and the value of such action is very apparent, and it should be wholly unnecessary to urge the men in these two courses more especially to get back of the movement and give it their heartiest support. Associate membership is open to men in any other school who are interested in the object of the club.

Prohibition League Meeting.

The Prohibition league held its regular weekly meeting on Monday night at 7:30 in room K of the Library. The oratorical and essay contests were discussed. A prize of $5 is given for the winning oration here and $50 at the state contest at Dickinson April 16. The State college W. C. T. U. has offered $15 as the first prize and $10 as the second prize for the 2000 word essay. A deputation team and the quartet will go to Boalsburg to hold a union meeting on Sunday night February 28. R. E. Keller reported on current events.

Next Monday night Stone '17 will have current events and Prof. Harley will lecture.

Special Senior Dance

A special senior dance will be held in the Armory Monday evening, February 22. Special music will be furnished and a large attendance is expected. All Penn State alumni are invited.

BASKETBALL WINNING STREAK CONTINUES

Park's Fast Moving Team Overwhelms Boston Tech—First Athletic Relations With New England Team—Blakslee Scores Enough to Win.

Penn State had little trouble last Friday afternoon in the Armory in defeating Boston Tech 60-14. When the Boston team came on the floor, their size and accurate shooting seemed to predict a close game. They scored the first point of the game when Smithey shot a foul goal, however, their lead was taken away and never regained after Blakslee shot a field goal. Before Smithey could earn another point Walton by one field goal and Blakslee by four goals had raised the score to 12-1. Smithey then shot another foul goal. Again State replied with 12 points and the score was raised to 24-2.

Close guarding by the forwards and accurate passing and shooting seemed to bewilder the Bostonians and the half ended 33-8. No State team in recent years has shot so accurately. Smithey was the only man who could do any scoring at all for his team. On the other hand every State man including substitutes, who entered the game late in the second half, had little difficulty in scoring.

At present the only seemingly weak spot on the team is the foul shooting. Three out of 14 tries is not a good average, however, the all-around work of every man on the team and especially the efficient leadership of Captain Park can permit such a minor detail.

Once again it would be difficult to pick out any particular star. Every man shot accurately. Captain Park by brilliant floor work often made possible the chances to score by other men on his team.

The lineup follows:

PENN STATE	BOSTON TECH
Park, Capt.	Moss
Blakslee	Smithey
Jester	Gokey
Wilson	Demerrit
Walton	Wansker

Field goals—Park 2, Blakslee 8, Wagner, Jester 4, Bishop, Wilson 6, Walton 3, Hoffman, Smithey 2.

Foul goals—Park, 3 out of 14; Fast, 1 out of 4; Smithey, 10 out of 19.

Substitutions—Wagner for Blakslee, Beckett for Park, Kannas for Wagner, Bishop for Jester, Hostetter for Bishop, Fast for Wilson, Hoffman for Walton, Moss for Wansker, Raycroft for Moss.

Referee, Taggart; timer, Martin; scorer, Sharp; time of halves, 20 minutes.

Motive Power Club.

The executive committee of the Motive Power club at a recent meeting outlined a plan by which all engineering students, especially underclassmen, will be benefited. It is the only organization for underclass engineers and it is intended to organize them and prepare them for the upperclass societies.

Meetings will be held twice a month, at which meetings, speakers interested in Motive Power work will give informal talks. The first meeting will be held on Saturday, February 20, at 8:00 p. m. in 202 Engineering building. Mr. Blair, of the mechanics department, will talk on "Methods of Handling Practical Engineering Problems." Mr. Blair is an engineer of no mean ability and those who hear him will indeed be fortunate. All engineers are invited.
