

Debating Constitution Ratified

The need of a constitution has long been urgently felt by the men connected with debating interests here at the college. In response to this need this year's debating council drew up a constitution which was ratified by the student council and sanctioned by the student body in the Wednesday morning mass meeting. The council, under the new constitution, is recognized as having authority over forensic interests, and that was the main object of its presentation to the student council and student body. The resolutions in full follow:

Article 1. Purpose. Section 1. The purpose of this organization shall be to promote and to supervise the student debating and oratorical activities of the Pennsylvania State college.

Article 2. Name. Section 1. This council shall be known as the Forensic Council of the Pennsylvania State college.

Article 3. Section 2. The council shall be a representative body of all the classes that are eligible for college debating and oratorical contests and only of these classes.

Article 4. Composition. Who may be members. Section 1. This council shall consist (1) of nine members chosen from students of the Pennsylvania State college taking four year courses leading to the bachelor's degree, and (2) of one faculty representative. Three of the student members shall be members of the senior class, three members of the junior class, two members of the sophomore class, and one member of the freshman class.

Article 5. Election of members. Section 1. The senior, junior and sophomore members of the council not previously elected to office shall be chosen by popular vote of their several classes at their first regular meeting of each year. The freshman member shall be chosen by the organizing officer of his class at the earliest possible date of each year. The faculty member shall be appointed by the president of the college at the beginning of each year.

Section 2. The members of the previous year's council shall continue in power until the new council shall be thus elected.

Article 6. Officers. Section 1. The officers of this council shall be a president, a secretary, a treasurer, and a corresponding secretary.

Duties of president. Section 2. The duties of the president shall be to preside at all regular meetings and to call and preside at all special meetings of this council; to appoint all committees and officers not otherwise provided for; and such other duties as may fall on a presiding officer.

Of secretary. Section 3. The duties of the secretary shall be to keep an accurate record of the proceedings of the council; to preserve and file all reports not entered on the minutes book; to keep a list of the members and their college addresses; and to preside at all meetings in the absence of the president. He shall hand a written requisition to the treasurer for all bills, after the council has voted to pay the same.

Of treasurer. Section 4. The duties of the treasurer shall be to provide for the collection of the funds of the council and to have charge of same. He shall present all bills and pay them only on the written requisition of the secretary, v. s., he shall keep an accurate account book and file requisitions with same.

Of corresponding secretary. Section 5. The duties of the corresponding secretary shall be to take charge of all the correspondence of the council.

Article 7. Election of officers. Section 1; The officers of this council for each incoming college year shall be chosen by ballot of the duly accredited members of the council at the last regular meeting in each year.

Classes from which officers may be selected. Section 2. The president shall be a member of the incoming senior class, the secretary a member of the incoming junior class, the treasurer shall be the faculty member, the corresponding-secretaryship may also be vested in the faculty member, or an upper classman member of the council.

Their ex-officio membership. The names of the officers elected as above (section 1 of this article) shall not be voted on by their several classes, but they shall hold their membership on the council thereafter for one college year by virtue of their respective offices.

Article 8. Meetings. Section 1. The meetings of this council shall be (a) regular and (b) special meetings. (a) The regular meetings shall be held once every month during the college year, at a regular hour fixed to suit the convenience of every member at the beginning of each semester. (b) Special meetings may be called at any time by the president or on petition of the members. The members shall then be notified by mail or phone by the secretary.

Doings on the Campus.

The excavation now going on at the mound on the athletic field is for the purpose of securing earth for grading. The project under way just now is the grading of the roadway between Old Main and McAllister Hall.

In a short time, probably a week or 10 days Professor Boucke's and Dr. Zook's classes which at present meet in the Old Chapel, will be removed to the main lecture room of the new Liberal Arts building. Mr. Deering and Professor Marshman will also hold classes in the new building.

Construction work continues on

Always welcome when you take a box of Samoset Chocolates along. We had another cleanup Valentine day. A new shipment on the way. Always the best.

Have you tried one of the delicious ham sandwiches or a cup of our fine hot chocolate and coffee. We are selling more every day.

Basketball Scores.

The efficiency of a basketball player cannot be judged by his scoring ability for floor work and accurate passing on the part of teammates often is the largest factor. Therefore the appended record is printed only for the curiosity of those who might be interested.

The scoring record of each member of the team follows

The Fire Company Benefit.

The benefit movies given by manager Blackford at the Nittany last Monday for the student fire department was a success. The firemen expect to get between $45 and $50 as a result of their labors, for they were all equipped with tickets a week ahead of time and all their friends and enemies suffered in consequence. This little stunt is simply another instance where the Nittany management has shown itself abreast of the times and deserves the gratitude of a fair and just student body.

Senior Class Meeting

There will be a meeting of the senior class in Old Chapel, Thursday at 7 p. m. The senior memorial will be discussed and voted upon. Several other important questions are to be presented. Everybody out!
