MIDDLE ATLANTIC STUDENT CONFERENCE

Well Known Speakers and Christian Work Specialists Will be in Attendance—Penn State Will be Well Represented.

The Middle Atlantic Student conference for the men in the colleges of Ohio, West Virginia and the Middle Atlantic states, will be held at Eaglesmere park from June 15 to 23.

Many noted men in Christian work will be present and conduct a series of lectures. Among this number are included: George Sherwood Eddy, who conducted the Penn State campaign last year; Prof. John Douglas Adam, recently a visitor to our college; Raymond Robins, a well known layman; Prof. G. A. Johnson Ross; Prof. Norman E. Richardson; Rt. Rev. Charles E. Woodcock, D. D., of Kentucky; Prof. Mann, of Cornell; Prof. Tweedy, of Yale; and Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, D. D., rector of Holy Trinity church, Philadelphia.

Plans are now under way to secure the attendance of a large delegation of Penn State students. In former years, State has always headed the list in numbers, and many men have already expressed their intention of going this year. There is plenty of time for recreation—all the afternoon is free—and for the best of fellowship with the friendly crowd of men from many institutions. All men who are planning for the trip should call at the Y. M. C. A. office, 273 Main, and make definite arrangements for their entertainment.

SCABBARD AND BLADE CONVENTION

Eleven Colleges Sent Nineteen Delegates.
Last Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Scabbard and Blade, an association of varied military activities of national scope, held its annual convention here at State College.

Nineteen representatives, embracing 11 different colleges, assembled to exchange welcomes of mutual fidelity and to conduct the business of their organization. The colleges represented were Wisconsin, Minnesota, Cornell, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan Aggie, Kansas State, Purdue, Ohio State, Washington University and State College.

Characteristic of Penn State methods, the delegates upon their arrival Thursday were made to feel right at home. They were entertained with smokers and a feed staged in the college woods that evening. Friday afternoon the regiment was reviewed. In the Armory the same evening a military hop was held; this was indeed a very pompous and splendid occasion. Forty couples in formal military attire graced the ball-room. They were later entertained at the president's home.

Saturday afternoon after the business of the convention had been attended to, the delegates witnessed the ball game. As a fitting ending to the three day celebration, an enjoyable banquet was held in the evening at the Nittany.

The convention was a huge success and the delegates left expressing much pleasure and satisfaction over their short visit.

Senior Dance

The last of the series of senior dances will be held in the Armory Friday evening May 7.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

NORTHERN BASEBALL TRIP.

West Point, Lafayette, Princeton and Dartmouth Will be Hard to Defeat.

Next Friday the baseball team will leave for a week's tour through the northern states. This trip is indeed an exceptionally hard one. The teams which they will face are of the best calibre.

On Saturday our team will make their opening bow upon March field; Lafayette will of course be their opponents. Lafayette has one of the best teams in the east. She routed our pitchers last year and handed us a bad beating, but we hope to be revenged for that defeat by a victory over her on Saturday.

Games with Dartmouth, Vermont and West Point follow. West Point has not lost a game this season and she still retains the same team that defeated us last season. A game with Princeton is the next contest and final one. Everyone knows how difficult it is to defeat Princeton in any sport upon her home grounds; but with the twirling ability of our pitchers, together with a well balanced, reliable team we should come through the trip with a fine record.
